Large Short Interest In Wheat Is Reported

Ottawa, June 28.—Supporting the statement made by Premier R. B. Bennett in the House of Commons that there is a visible surplus of Canadian wheat to the United States, the Canadian Wheat Board today reported that the visible surplus of Canadian wheat is 226,000,000 bushels more than the visible supply of Canadian wheat in the United States. The evidence was in contradiction to that of grain exchange witnesses who claimed the difference between the 200,000,000 visible supply of Canadian wheat and the 226,000,000 were legitimate hedges covering flour, wheat, malt and wheat in other positions.

Soon To Be Greeted In Ottawa

Norman Armour, pictured above with his wife, is expected soon to arrive in Ottawa to take up his new duties as United States Minister to Canada. Recently appointed, Mr. Armour, accompanied by Mrs. Armour, talked with newspaper reporters when the two arrived at New York and posed for cameras. Mr. Armour has been transferred from the post of United States Minister to Haiti.

Saskatchewan Drafts Proposal For Camp Men

Announcement of Premier Gardiner's Plan to End Relief Strike Tension Is Awaited; Call For Funds; Five Men Before Court

By SAM G. ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Regina, June 28.—A Dominion-wide call for funds to aid 2,000 striking relief camp strikers went out to-day from strike supporters while Premier J. G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan studied a proposal to submit to the strikers and five men awaited arraignment as a result of the strikers' first attempt to break through the police blockade of highways.

What proposal Premier Gardiner had in mind was unknown. He was endeavoring to arrange to submit his plans to the strikers, preferably at a mass meeting of the men.

The strikers' committee of seventy-seven was holding a session this afternoon, but whether a mass meeting would be arranged was unknown.

COMMITTEE NAMED

The Citizens' Emergency Committee supporting the strikers met at noon and appointed a committee to start a Dominion-wide campaign for funds to assist the strikers. They also set up a committee to study arrangements to provide the strikers with food. The strikers have been using their own funds to obtain meals for the last three days.

FARMERS WARNED

A warning to farmers to refuse assistance to the striking relief camp workers was issued to-day by Col. S. T. Wood, Assistant Commissioner of Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

INTERFERENCE IS PROTESTED

Saskatchewan Premier Scores Ottawa For Handling of Relief Strikers

Canadian Press
Regina, June 28.—Texts of the four latest telegrams exchanged between Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Premier J. G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan respecting the trek of 2,000 relief camp strikers to Ottawa were issued here to-day by Premier Gardiner.

The two premiers clashed over co-operation, authority and responsibility in the four telegrams that ran over 1,100 words. All four telegrams were exchanged yesterday.

BOUND TO ACT

Prime Minister Bennett in his first telegram said the Dominion Government was bound to act on a request of the railways and the strikers had been warned. He reviewed the situation, provision of food and offers of transportation back to their homes.

"I publicly appeal to you and your government to discharge your proper responsibilities in respect to maintenance of law and order in Saskatchewan," the Prime Minister said.

PROTESTED INTERFERENCE

Premier Gardiner replied by quoting his telegram of June 19 saying the Saskatchewan government was in a position to handle the situation in its relation to the administration of justice. He pointed to confusion of orders to police and protected federal interference.

Henderson Foresees No European War

Associated Press
London, June 28.—Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, told the inaugural session of the National Peace Congress here to-day he saw no immediate danger of a great European conflict.

STATE OF WAR IN BARCELONA

Associated Press
Madrid, June 28.—A state of war was declared in Barcelona, capital of semi-autonomous Catalonia, to-night. No immediate explanation of the action was given.

Calgary, June 28.—Walter O. Nancarrow, fifty-five, former vice-president of the Turner Valley Oil Company and a native of Campbellford, Ont., died yesterday.

UNKNOWN WINS BRITISH GOLF

Alfred Perry Shoots Record Equalling 283 to Capture Open Title

Associated Press
Muirfield, June 28.—Alfred Perry, thirty-year-old British Ryder Cup team player, won the British open golf championship to-day with final rounds of 67 and 72, a record-equalling seventy-two-hole total of 283.

Second place went to Alf Padgham, Great Britain. He shot the last nine holes in 34 for 71, and a total of 287. Charles A. Whitcombe, Great Britain, who took the lead in yesterday's round, moved down to third place with 288, while Lawson Little, British and United States amateur champion, was bracketed with Bert Gadd, a British pro, in the next place with scores of 289.

REPLACES COTTON

Perry's finishing rounds, collectively representing five strokes under par and made in the face of a wind that at times approached gale force, brought to an end the meteoric reign of Henry Cotton, winner at Sandwich a year ago. Cotton completed the seventy-two-hole grind over the famous field course with rounds of 76 and 75, for an aggregate of 283.

Perry, who previously had failed to finish in the money in the open championship, had a twelve-foot putt on the final green to set a new low score for the current tournament. His putt slid inches past. As it was he tied the winning record score of 283 hung up by Gene Sarazen in 1932 and duplicated by Cotton last year at Sandwich.

The Englishman's victory gives Great Britain a fresh and firm grip on the championship which before last year had been dominated for a decade of years by invading United States players. It was the first time in fourteen years Britons have won it two years in a row.

GIVEN BIG HAND

A crowd estimated at 15,000 swarmed around the clubhouse grounds, cheering and thronged and making it difficult for Perry to reach the dressing room as he finished. Cotton was one of the first to rush across the green and shake his hand.

Perry was the thick of the contention for the title from the start. He opened with a par-busting 69 and then followed it up with a 75 yesterday enabling him to tie with two others for fourth place.

Clipping three strokes off par and finishing with a brilliant 69 for a new amateur record for the course, Lawson Little completed the strenuous test with a seventy-two-hole aggregate of 289. He had previous rounds of 75, 71 and 74.

King Cheered On Return To London

Canadian Press
London, June 28.—The King, browned and in apparent good health, returned to Buckingham Palace to-day from a fortnight's rest at Sandringham.

He made the trip from Norfolk by train, then motored from King's Cross Station to the palace, cheered by spectators.

Charge Against Rupert A. G.

Walker, Roland Burritt and Donald Wood of Wounding Wilbert Lindstrom Opens; Crowded Courtroom Hears Explanation of Organization's Operations

The letters U.O.N. branded on the body of Wilbert Lindstrom, 1605 Blanshard Street, stand for the United Order of Nails, Constable Eric Elwell, of the Saanich police, and Sergeant Richard Harvey, of the provincial police, testified this morning when the hearing of a wounding charge against Rupert A. G. Walker, Roland Burritt and Donald Wood opened in the Saanich Police Court.

Details were given the court by police officers, who had been in conversation with the accused Wood, and the case was adjourned at 12:25 o'clock for luncheon, with Michael Share, one of the informants, on the stand. It continued this afternoon.

The courtroom was well filled. A number of women were in attendance. Six witnesses were called this morning, and twenty-five exhibits entered. Several times murmurs and matters ran through the courtroom as witnesses gave testimony of an unusual nature dealing with the operations of the organization.

LAUGHED DURING CASE

Walker and Burritt, who are being defended by H. A. Beckwith, took an active interest in the proceedings, showing considerable interest in the exhibits produced. Several times they laughed when they saw some of the exhibits being taken from bags and boxes to be shown the court. Wood was more reserved, and seldom changed his countenance throughout the morning.

Whittaker, appeared for Wood, C. Harold Tait conducting the prosecution for Saanich.

Although Magistrate Jay had power to try the case summarily, Mr. Tait asked that the hearing be taken as preliminary. The evidence, he said, would show an offence of considerable gravity which he felt should go before a jury. The magistrate agreed.

bridges, the trail will be built around in the most feasible route.

At the same time it will furnish impetus for completion of the Port Renfrew link in the West Coast road, long advocated by public bodies in Victoria.

This work has been carried along slowly in the last few years by relief workers, but when the connection is actually made, the incentive will be provided for completion of a proper motor road.

The trail will be wide enough to accommodate two horses abreast.

Besides giving a connection to Port Renfrew residents, it will serve as a tourist feature. The return trip out to the open Pacific at Port Renfrew could be made in one day and should prove a big attraction.

ATLANTIC RACE WON BY YAWL

Associated Press
Bergen, June 28.—Stormy weather, a yawl owned by Philip de Bontillier of New York, arrived in port early to-day and was declared the winner of the transatlantic race which started from Newport, R.I., on June 8.

Approximately eighteen miles of trail will be constructed, starting at the end of the road now being built by the Department of National Defence which has reached about eight miles past Jordan River.

PROROGATION IS IN SIGHT

Session at Ottawa Will End Next Week; Election Date Soon to Be Known

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 28.—The government will drop the alternative vote proposal for Saskatchewan, Premier R. B. Bennett announced to-day in the House of Commons.

It should pave the way for prorogation next week. Wednesday or Thursday, the House will not sit Monday, Dominion Day.

The grain board committee would complete its evidence to-day, the Prime Minister said, enabling the members to confer Monday. They probably would report to the House Tuesday.

Announcing the election bill would be dropped, Mr. Bennett said it was "because of the strong expressions of opinion from (Liberals) across the House."

WAY IS CLEARED

St. John, N.B., June 28.—The Liberal leader, Mr. Mackenzie King, could say for his party the rest of the business "will not take many hours."

Opposition to the bill was based on its sectional application and because "this is not the time to introduce so far-reaching changes." The principle of the alternative vote, it was held, could be discussed to better advantage at the start of a new Parliament, than in the concluding hours of an old House.

The House will not sit Monday, largely because the Senate, already behind in its work, will take a holiday then and it would serve no purpose to pile up more legislation in the Senate.

With prorogation in sight, the matter of chief interest is the date to be chosen for the federal general election.

Public Opinion In Italy Is For War

Eden Reports to British Cabinet on His Talk With Mussolini on Ethiopia

Associated Press
Rome, June 28.—Public opinion in Italy, swerving sharply during the last five months, appeared to-day to be strongly in favor of a war with Ethiopia.

Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden's recent visit seemingly did nothing to interfere with the surge of sentiment for armed conflict in support of Premier Mussolini's demand for "complete solution" of the East African dispute.

Some observers pointed out that a considerable section of the Italian populace was convinced Mr. Eden had come to attempt to induce Lt. Duca to relinquish his plan in Ethiopia in exchange for an unimportant territorial concession.

Many factors, material and psychological, account for the transformation. One is the economic betterment produced by the war preparations. Unemployment has been sharply reduced and industrial activity has risen considerably during 1935.

Beach Babies To Appear Soon

Beach baby pictures in The Victoria Daily Times, which created considerable interest last summer, will be resumed again shortly. Interesting snapshots of children at the beaches were received by the score last year and several pictures have already been received this summer. The first will be published in the next few days. Readers are invited to send their snapshots, with the name or names and addresses of the children on the back, giving the place where they were taken and any other interesting details. Pictures will be published of all snapshots which are clear enough for reproduction. Mark the snapshot "Beach Babies" and mail to The Times.

Floods In Japan Cause Deaths

Associated Press
Tokio, June 28.—Eleven persons were known dead and scores were missing as a result of today's torrential rains and floods in southwestern Japan.

The prefectures of Fukuoka, Nagasaki and Yamaguchi were hardest hit, with more than 300 houses collapsed and 6,000 partially inundated.

Forty-three Liberals Elected In New Brunswick In Yesterday's Polling; Five Conservatives Will Form Opposition

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 28.—"The results are so eloquent in themselves that it is a pity to mar them by any comment," Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dominion Liberal leader, said when asked if he would comment on the election in New Brunswick, where yesterday forty-three Liberals and five Conservatives were chosen for the new Legislature.

Mr. King expressed the opinion that in the New Brunswick campaign were largely the federal issues. It was another case of a province expressing its dissatisfaction with the manner in which these issues had been dealt with.

GREATEST TURNOUT

St. John, N.B., June 28.—New Brunswick hummed to-day in aftermath of the greatest political turnout ever recorded in this province. Results of voting yesterday included: Election of forty-three Liberals under the leadership of A. A. Dysart, K.C. Defeat of all Conservatives but three in Carleton and two in Saint John County.

Defeat of Premier L. P. D. Tilley and his entire cabinet. Loss of deposits by nine Conservatives and two Independents. Twenty-seven Liberal gains, including seats in previous Conservative strongholds such as York County and Saint John City.

Other indications of the Liberal sweep were the election of Walter W. Y. Foster, twenty-seven, youngest candidate in the field, and defeat of Hon. H. I. Taylor, M.D., Minister of Health and Labor.

Mr. Foster, son of Senator W. E. Foster, a former co-leader of New Brunswick, led the poll in King's after his first election campaign. Dr. Taylor met defeat for the first time after a career of twenty-seven years in the Legislature.

PROROGATION IS IN SIGHT

Just as the House adjourned last night, Liberal leader King asked Mr. Bennett if the amendment to the Dominion Election Act would be considered the next day.

Mr. Bennett said it would not.

"You had enough of elections to-day," said Mr. King, with the result of the New Brunswick election in mind.

"We are ready and willing to face another just as soon as possible," replied Mr. Bennett.

LEADERS CONFEE

The Prime Minister immediately walked over to Mr. King's desk and the Liberal leader rose. They engaged in earnest conversation as Speaker Bowman and the other members left the great chamber.

The galleries were soon deserted, the lobbies were forsaken. The Liberal members hurried to impromptu celebrations of the New Brunswick election. The two leaders talked on and on. They had moved to the centre of the corridor between the government and opposition benches and the discussion continued.

It was almost half-an-hour before they parted, and all they would say afterwards was that they had a very interesting talk of a confidential nature.

"It is safe to say you were not discussing union government," Mr. King was asked.

"It is safe to say that," he replied with a smile.

Saskatchewan had no problem until it was created by the federal government, he said. He protested permitting the strikers to advance out of British Columbia, and then keeping them in Regina. potato growers and shippers. The three Carleton Conservatives are: P. O. Squires, Speaker of the last Legislature; G. W. Perry and E. W. McMillan. Their only company on the opposition side of the next House will be Robert McAllister and A. C. Smith, elected in Saint John County.

BIG CONTRAST

Thus the forty-eight legislative seats will be occupied by forty-three Liberals and five former Conservative government supporters, a marked contrast with the standing at dissolution: Conservatives 27, Liberals 14, five Conservative and two Liberal vacancies.

MINISTERS DEFEATED

Four cabinet ministers were defeated in two constituencies. Premier Tilley and Hon. W. H. Harrison, Attorney-General, in Saint John City; Dr. Taylor and Hon. G. H. I. Cockburn, president of the executive council, in Charlotte.

Other defeated members of the government are: Hon. Lewis Smith, Minister of Agriculture, Albert; Hon. D. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, Restigouche; Hon. A. J. Leager, Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, Westmorland; and Hon. E. A. Reilly, chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission and minister without portfolio, Moncton City.

STATEMENT BY DYARST

From his home at Buctouche, where he received the election returns, came word from A. Dyarst, Premier-to-be, that the Liberals were prepared at once to carry out their programme.

"In the main the issues were fairly well defined," he stated. "Although collateral issues for a time seemed to dominate the situation, sound second thoughts prevailed and a verdict we might say, has been rendered on essentials."

"The record of the (Tilley) government was always in issue. The policies of the opposition party, as outlined in our platform, constituted an appeal which far outweighed the so-called achievements of the past. There was broad agreement on the future, our programme inspired hope, and it shall be the aim of the new government, soon to take over, to carry out this programme."

PREMIER'S STATEMENT

Premier Tilley said his government would lose no time in handing over control to the incoming cabinet. "The result of the election in New Brunswick," he said, "has been similar to the result of the election in other provinces where governments have been in power during the time of depression. The outcome of the election has been most pronounced. I congratulate Mr. Dyarst and his followers on their victory and I trust in these difficult days of government the new government will be able to implement at the next session of the Legislature legislation in compliance with the wishes of the people."

"The unfortunate condition, however, is that the new government is there has not been a sufficiently strong opposition elected to the House. It is always good for any government to have a reasonably strong opposition."

"During my term of office I have striven to do the best I could in the interests of the province."

NO WITHDRAWAL

"The meaning of his telegram had been misconstrued, said Prime Minister Bennett in reply. "Have not the slightest intention of withdrawing from the position which we have taken and propose to use our utmost endeavors even although you decline to co-operate to maintain the fabric of the country against illegal threats and demands of communists and their associates," the reply said.

SASKATCHEWAN DRAFTS PROPOSAL FOR CAMP MEN

Col. Wood said police had learned the strikers planned to establish a camp of their own on farm property somewhere near the city.

"Farmers should be warned against seeking these men in setting up such a camp," said Col. Wood. "Any person who supplies any form of accommodation, buildings, rented or free, transportation or food, will be prosecuted."

NEW DOMINION CAMP

The new federal camp at Lumsden, thirty miles north of here, was still open for the strikers to go to and obtain food and shelter, said C. P. Burgess, federal director here.

CIVIC OFFICIALS ANNOUNCE

The Stadium would be at the disposal of the strikers until the federal authorities asked that it be closed to them.

COURT HEARING

The five men arrested yesterday evening when a truck load of striking relief camp workers attempted to break through a Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol to resume their strike were scheduled to be arraigned in police court here some time this afternoon.

The five were placed in custody under charges dealing with a statute on peace and order. Provision is also made for seizure of vehicles and prosecution of persons aiding them in an attempt to leave the city.

Specifically, when the test of the law is applied, the five men, J. B. Bagshaw, acting jointly as counsel in the case, and T. H. Newlove are acting for the men. Mr. Newlove interviewed the men at the Regina Police station.

DRIVERS HELD

The five men in custody are: Jack Cosgrove, one of the strike leaders and commander of the army of 2,000 strikers when they are on the march; J. B. Bagshaw, acting jointly as counsel in the case, and T. H. Newlove are acting for the men. Mr. Newlove interviewed the men at the Regina Police station.

The strikers this forenoon remained in quarters at the Exhibition grounds, where they arrived two weeks ago this morning. They were told that the Regina Police would be in the city to help out the strikers.

ON HIGHWAY

For an hour last night a truck load of strikers argued with a Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol in an attempt to move to the highway leading eastward to Brandon and Winnipeg. The arrests—five men—were made in the pale light of automobile headlights, while a score of strikers were being taken to the Regina Police station.

DISCUSSION IN COMMONS

Ottawa, June 28.—A warning to the western Ontario Ottawa marchers to keep within the law or "take the consequences" was sounded in the House of Commons yesterday evening by Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie.

The law will be maintained," was the statement of the Minister of Justice replying to a question given by James B. Woodworth, Winnipeg, C.C.F. leader, that "lives may be lost because of the bungling of the government in dealing with the strikers."

U.O.N. Stands For United Order Of Nails, Court Told

Constable Ewell testified that on Sunday, June 16, five days after the alleged branding, he had searched the premises on Wilkinson Road with Sgt. Harvey. It was a large barn owned by James Jackson, he said.

MANY EXHIBITS

The constable produced the following exhibits which he stated had been found in the barn: Rope, a pair of leggings studded with thumb tacks in the letters "U.O.N." which protruded about one-fourth of an inch inside the leggings; a saucupan, blue paper in which cotton batting had been wrapped, a pair of shoes, an old rag torn into strips, a black sock, a cap, a pair of blue corduroy pants, cotton batting and bandage, a quantity of horsehair, three empty jars, a bottle of persicide, a pair of scissors and an oil stove.

While Constable Ewell and Sergeant Harvey were searching the premises the three accused had driven up in a car, he testified.

"We were at the barn and when the accused drove up we interviewed them," said Constable Ewell. "I had not decided to arrest them at that time and Sgt. Harvey questioned them about the organization 'U.O.N.' He asked whether it was registered under the Companies Act and also spoke of its legality."

"I asked Walker who was the president. He said it was a stranger he had met in the street who came here from Vancouver. He could not give me a name. He also said he had written to a man in New York who was connected with it."

"He then showed me a ring he was wearing with the letter 'U.O.N.' on it. He said there was a costume which was used in the initiation, but he did not produce it. He handed me a blank membership card."

"I asked him what 'U.O.N.' stood for. He did not want to tell me in the presence of the others as he did not want Burritt and Wood to know. He took a piece of paper from his pocket and I handed him a pencil. On it he wrote the names of Wilbert Lindstrom, Michael Share and Bruce Cartwright. These were signed by R. A. Walker as visitor."

Michael Share, who rooms with Lindstrom, was called next. He had known the three accused about two months. He met Walker at a dance in St. Mark's Hall about the end of March, he testified. He had not met Walker several times since, he said.

GETS APPLICATION FORM
"I spoke to him at a meeting when he told me he had a club that would help out the Scout troop. He said it was a Y.M.C.A. club. He had a card and a membership form, in which you paid $5.00 for a life membership, and it paid one-quarter of your hospital bills. He gave me an application form."

"I saw him later and told him I would join. On June 10 I got a communication from Walker, and as a result I met him between 6 and 7 o'clock on the night of June 10 and 11. He was at Douglas Street. Walker wanted me to go out at 7 o'clock to the club's headquarters with him. He said the club was to present a flag to the Scouts, and the presentation was to be rehearsed."

"Walker asked me to bring a change of old clothes. I told him I didn't have time as I had to go to the Armories. He asked me to put it off, and I said I couldn't. He asked when I would be through, and I said about 9 or 9.30. He said he would meet me."

"About 9.30 or 9.45 o'clock I met Walker, and I think it was Wood who came with him. They were about 15 minutes late. They were at Douglas Street. ## NEW BRUNSWICK'S POLITICAL DEBACLE

THE VOTERS OF NEW BRUNSWICK went to the polls yesterday, turned out the Tilley government, defeated all its ministers, and elected forty-three Liberals to a new Legislature composed of forty-eight members. They did about as complete a job as they could have done. Not even the most optimistic of Liberal Leader Dymally's supporters could have anticipated such an overwhelming victory. It is obvious, however, that the sweep of Liberalism, which began in earnest with the provincial general election in Nova Scotia nearly two years ago, is now general throughout the country.

To get a good idea of the political picture as painted by the general elections which have been held in five provinces since the summer of 1933 it is worth while to study the strength of the government following in the respective Legislatures. The combined total membership of the five Houses is 271, and of this number the Liberals account for 216 seats. The details follow:

	Liberals	Full Membership
Nova Scotia.....	22	30
British Columbia.....	35	48
Ontario.....	66	90
Saskatchewan.....	50	55
New Brunswick.....	43	48

With New Brunswick back in the Liberal column, Canada is left with only one province where a Conservative government is in office, which is in Prince Edward Island. Quebec, of course, is almost solidly Liberal. In that province's Legislature of ninety members there are seventy-seven Liberals, two Independent Liberals, and eleven Conservatives. Thus, with Quebec's total of Liberals added to that of the five provinces noted above, we get the figure of 296 of a combined six-province total Legislature membership of 361.

While Alberta and Manitoba can not be called Liberal in the strict sense of the term, the governments of both provinces have nothing whatever in common with Conservatism. Hence the lone and smallest of the Canadian provinces, Prince Edward Island, is left holding the last fort of a dead cause.

The campaign conducted by the Conservatives of New Brunswick seems to have revolved around the record of the Tilley ministry. The Premier made it fairly clear at the outset that he was averse to making promises. He pointed with pride to the Marketing Board which his government had set up, to the minimum wage for workers in the woods, to reforms in agricultural education, to hard-surfaced roads, to a rebate in the gasoline tax and to the high standing of the province's credit.

Political custom naturally permitted the Liberal opposition to consider the record of the government as by no means above reproach; but Mr. Dymally had something constructive to propose as well. He criticized the Tilley ministry for refusing an old-age pension scheme—the stand taken was that the province could not afford it—and promised, if elected, to bring about this reform. The Liberals also are on record as in favor of a new land settlement policy, a reforestation policy, a policy of power development, restriction of child labor and improvements in education—and the familiar but commendable promise to retrench and to balance the budget.

A forward-looking proposal to which Liberal speakers throughout the campaign gave considerable attention was that which would establish for New Brunswick a department of federal relations, the duty of which would be to see that the province got a fair deal from the Dominion in such matters as trade, finance, transportation and fisheries.

We are too far removed from the scene of yesterday's interesting election to attempt to offer any opinion on the merits or demerits of the government which suffered such a complete defeat. We can only say that it furnishes fairly convincing proof that the so-called reforms proposed by the administration at Ottawa, far from helping Premier Tilley, seem to have been somewhat of a handicap to him, for if there had been the slightest favorable reaction to them, Mr. Tilley, not Mr. Dymally, would have been wearing the broad smile this morning. And it remained for Mr. Bennett's native province, by yesterday's debacle, to administer to him "the most unkindest cut of all."

A STRATAGEM THAT FAILED

AN INTERESTING STORY COMES from Ottawa regarding the failure of a political stratagem devised by the government which, judging by the proceedings of Parliament, appears to have some solid foundation in fact. It is to the effect that when Mr. Bennett returned from England several reform measures were ready for submission to the House of Commons and the expectation of the Prime Minister was that they would be opposed by the opposition. In that case he would have dissolved Parliament and called an election at once on the ground that he was being obstructed in his policy of reform.

But when the bills were introduced there was no obstruction, and such criticism as they received were not sufficient to make a peg on which to hang an election. In fact, Mr. Bennett walked right into a vacuum, and it became necessary for him to proceed with the other measures which he had promised the public to enact. These were not ready, since it was not expected that they would be required, and they had not even gone through the party caucus. The result was a hurried drafting of bills full of flaws, one of which, by the way, the Minister of Justice admitted was of doubtful validity. They were literally dumped upon the House for purposes of political capital, without regard to their constitutional disabilities, and some of them would be thrown out immediately they got to the courts.

THE EUROPEAN MEDLEY

THE SYSTEM OF INSURING PEACE BY the collective action of the major powers of Europe appears to be in danger of collapse, with the emergence of a system of military alliances in its place. Great Britain's naval agreement with Germany has aroused the resentment of both France and Italy, with the prospect that the decisions reached by the three powers at Stresa recently may go by the board.

The naval arrangement recognizes Germany's right to a navy 35 per cent as large as that of Great Britain. France points out that this means that Germany would have a navy 85 per cent as big as her own, but that as she must keep half of her naval strength in the Mediterranean she would be actually inferior to Germany in that arm in the protection of her northern coast. She also contends that if Germany's naval programme is to be limited in this way in the interests of Great Britain, it is only fair that the German land strength should undergo a similar limitation in relation to French land power.

It must be admitted that the French position is logical enough in view of the fact that France is much more exposed to attack by the German army than Great Britain is by the German navy. France's answer to the unilateral treaty between Great Britain and Germany, therefore, is likely to be an extension of her own defences and the further development of her understanding with Russia as well as with Italy, not to overlook her alliance with the Little Entente.

The plain fact, of course, is that every big power in Europe is making its own military security the basis of its promotion of international peace in the proportion of about 90 per cent to 10. This is natural enough in view of the atmosphere of fear and suspicion existing on that continent, which is not likely to disappear until there is closer and more intimate intercourse and understanding between the peoples of the various powers, in the place of the gospel of hate expounded by special interests and the diplomatic log-rolling of the governments. Europe appears to be heading pell-mell for wholesale revolution which would be hastened by a war, but which in any case is inevitable unless the various nations agree to disarm as unanimously as they have agreed to arm—and that is a very remote prospect.

TURKEY RECALLS WAR'S BLUNDERS

THE GHOSTS OF SEVERAL THOUSAND soldiers should be interested—if they are in a position to know about such things—in the news that Turkey is going to take a leaf from Hitler's book and fortify the Dardanelles, whether the former allies like it or not.

This, at any rate, is the latest news to jar European diplomacy. It has drawn denials, but even the denials admit that a network of roads has been constructed which would enable Turkey to line the straits with motorized artillery companies on a few hours' notice.

This ought to be of interest to the ghosts; for it calls back to mind one of the most tragic and bloody chapters in all the tragic and bloody story of the World War—the effort of Britain and France to force their way through the Dardanelles in 1915.

In no other episode of the war did the terrible price that can be exacted for the failure of a few individual commanders stand out in such clear relief.

To begin, some naval authority, whose name it is not necessary to mention, tipped off the Turks to the impending attack by ordering, a premature bombardment of the shore defences, which gave the Turks just enough warning to get ready for the real attack.

Then a combined British and French fleet tried to force its way through. It got about half way and then withdrew after mines sank several battleships. After the war it was learned that those were the Turks' last mines, that ammunition for their batteries was exhausted, and that they were resigned, on the day the fleet withdrew, to complete defeat.

Next came the landing of troops. A long and costly trench warfare deadlock ensued. In an effort to end it, a British division was landed at Suvla Bay, halfway up the slim Dardanelles Peninsula. For twenty-four hours this division remained there, practically unopposed. It could have crossed the peninsula and won complete victory; but its commander delayed attacking for twenty-four hours, giving the Turks just time enough to bring up men and guns and checkmate the thrust.

On such slender chances did the Dardanelles campaign turn. World history would be vastly different if it had succeeded. Turkey would have been knocked out of the war, allied supplies would have reached Russia in ample volume, the Russian revolution could have been averted, the war would have ended before the United States was drawn in—and, all in all, the record of the last twenty years would make altogether different reading.

This is brought to mind by this current news about new fortifications for the Dardanelles. To the ghosts of the thousands of Britons, Australians and Frenchmen who died there in a lost cause, the news ought to have a grim and melancholy interest.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

SOUL EQUALITY

Always there are tasks to face.
Always there are griefs to bear.
Man, no matter what his place,
Long escapes the net of care.
Rich and poor and high and low
Feel the self-same twinges of pain.
Sound the self-same depths of woe
And must learn to smile again.

Plans for all will go astray.
Cherished hopes will be denied.
Grief no favorites will play.
Each must have his courage tried.
In the court of life we stand
Equal as on judgment day.
Neither fame nor wealth command
Power the hand of death to stay.

Loose Ends

The world sees us dancing the Highland fling on the green-sward, but really we don't do it, you know—they have a real solution for unemployment in the U.S.A.—and our politicians have to be dull fellows.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

HIGHLAND FLING

SOME MOVIE people who came here to make pictures of Victoria for the education of the world public, evidently sought some folk custom, some local touch of tradition peculiar to us. So they got a lot of girls to do Highland dances on the lawns of the Empress Hotel. This was charming; not that I have ever heard that Highland dancing is typical of Victoria, for most of the descendants of the original wild Scots have discarded the kilt in favor of plus fours and beach pyjamas, and scarcely a haggis has been grown here for a long time. No matter, the movie people have caught a pleasant aspect of Victorian life which the world public will consider typical. The world public will believe that we are a quaint and harmless folk who dance on the green-sward of an evening after a hard day in the fields. Let it think so.

But what a shock is in store for the world public when it comes here. I question that one tourist in a million will ever see a Highland dance or hear the shriek of the pipes or small bagpipes. The world public won't find us quaint at all. Instead of the native dancing Highland flings, it will find them staggering back and forth under red and green stop-and-go signs.

I have mentioned it so often before, that I have to sneak up on the stop-and-go signs under the disguise of Highland dancing, but having got this far, I shall venture to come out in the open and declare my heresy before men—I do not like these stop-and-go signs. No argument can be made against them on grounds of practical municipal government and ordinary expediency. But from the deeper philosophical standpoint, they are a vile thing.

They finally rob us of that freedom to bump into each other and kill ourselves in our own way which has been the heritage of our island stronghold from the beginning. They remove the last touch of humanity from the corner of Yates and Douglas. Now we are to have mechanical policemen, and I dare say in time we shall achieve mechanical car drivers, and after that mechanical pedestrians who can't go wrong. Then all our problems will be solved.

But that is not the worst of it. The worst of it is that the stop-and-go signs reduce us to the level of other places. A tourist comes here expecting to find Arcadia. Instead, he finds just another city; not that I care what a tourist finds or what he thinks, for who would prostitute our own island civilization and individual culture for the low ends of commerce?

Not that I care what a tourist finds, but these mechanical devices distort the ideas of our own young. They, too, will learn to think of Victoria as just another city, with the same red and green lights, the same regimented, dragooned, and lock-stepping pedestrians. They will soon forget altogether the glory of the days when we could walk like free men across the public highway where we pleased, when we pleased and into the radiator of any car that caught our fancy. And worst of all, they will like it.

They will think there is something smart, up-to-date and civilized about red and green lights. They lack the experience and background to know that these devices are not a sign of progress, but a sign of decadence. If men had not been corrupted by civilization into the manners of the jungle there would be no need of mechanical instruments to tell them not to run into each other and kill pedestrians at street corners. We should be a happier race if in truth, instead of merely in the movies, we danced the Highland fling of an evening instead of the St. Vitus dance of modern traffic at the corner of Yates and Douglas.

IDIOTIC IDEA

THE LATEST crackpot idea emerging from the steaming cauldron of American civilization is the plan to send 6,000,000 unemployed foreign-born citizens back to their own countries to relieve the unemployment situation.

This isn't merely inhuman and brutal. It is perfectly silly. Of all the idiotic notions of economic reform talked down these days, it is the most unsound. One knows, of course, that many people think that if you could kill off all the unemployed painfully, whether they be native or foreign, you would solve the unemployment problem. I dare say a lot of people secretly would be prepared to do it, or at least to order the unemployed to have no children who might be unemployed also.

But actually if you were to exterminate the 6,000,000 Americans now on relief in one form or another, business would immediately collapse. The purchasing power of that number of people, even on extremely small incomes, is enormous. It keeps factories going, millions of other Americans at work in industries. If the United States government were to stop pumping money into circulation to-day, apart altogether from the starvation of a large part of the population, business would be screaming for help to-morrow morning, just as it is screaming now that the government should stop spending.

If the unemployed were removed, the absence of their purchasing power would throw out of work millions now employed. The total number of new unemployed would be smaller, certainly, but they would be just as great in proportion to the entire population, for you would have done nothing about remedying the basic defects of our present system. The next step would be to eliminate the remaining unemployed. Then another smaller group would go on the bread line. Eventually, by this logical process, you would get your population down to a few fellows in skins, living in the woods on venison and wild honey, and fighting over a few berries.

can't do anything about them anyway. This is philosophy but it isn't politics.

For politics you want a fellow who can't see too far, lest he see the futility of his trade. You want a fellow who can work himself into a lather about some reform or other which will be forgotten in another ten years. You want a fellow who believes that whatever he does is right, so he will keep on doing something, for politics lives in action, not in thought.

You don't want a fellow who knows that he is almost certain to be wrong, for then he won't do anything and your political system will lose the confidence of the public and collapse altogether. Your political system never rests on truth, but on enthusiasm and by a kind of glorious self-hypnotism, a merciful inability to look past next Christmas, managers to keep thundering on and on, though it never gets anywhere and, in the very nature of things, never can.

A politician must never realize that, or at once he will lose his usefulness, and if he suspects the truth the public may, too, and then it will just sit down and die. At all costs the parade must go on and the wise man will not stop it. He will grow cabbages and smile quietly to himself. Therefore, next time you are annoyed at our statesmen's complacency, remember that we couldn't do without it. Don't be annoyed. Be full of pity.

THAT NEW DEAL

To the Editor:—I have been reading a great deal lately in your morning contemporary about a new deal for Vancouver Island. I have tried earnestly to find one place in these articles where the condition of affairs to-day is any different from what it was when Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie was in office from 1926-33; I have been unsuccessful.

As a result my reaction to this movement is that it is being fostered by the Conservatives in an effort to belittle the present Liberal government. If the Colonist is sincere in its desire for a new deal why did it not make its plea when its own party was in power?

I also notice that most of those who are speaking in support of the new deal are Conservatives.

SQUARE DEAL

A GOOD ROAD

To the Editor:—I note that on Friday of this week a concert is to be given by Rowley's Boys' Band. I feel, like many others who have heard this band, that they need the support of the public. I have had the privilege of peeping in on their practice, and am enthusiastic that Victoria should have its own boys' band.

As the festival adjutant remarked, they are just youngsters, and their playing is of the best. Their leader puts in endless hours with them, is patient with their pranks and jokes, their damaged instruments and lost music, and deserves the backing of all those who are interested in boys.

MRS. L. M. MCINNIS.

Victoria, June 24.

GRATEFUL

To the Editor:—A grateful one who has received great benefit from just one week spent in camp, wishes to acknowledge her appreciation of the matron, nurse and the splendid cooking which has all helped in making her strong; also she would like to mention how splendidly everything is ordered, and how skillfully the mothers fall in with the nurse and Miss Rookes when taking care of the children. I wish to thank Miss Beathan and Mrs. Williamson for their kindness and help during my short sickness at the beginning of camp.

We had a most enjoyable evening after the children had gone to bed—every mother taking part. Mrs. Williamson setting the example by acting the part of a widow and singing a very amusing song, so setting us all at ease. We all of us join in thanks to the staff and others who have helped (Turn to Page 11, Col. 2)

CONCERT GIVEN AT CLUB LUNCH

Rotarians Hear Instrumental Music and Short Talk at Empress To-day

Musical club luncheons are the fashion this week. On Tuesday the Rotarians were entertained by four vocalists. To-day the Rotary Club, at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel, listened to an excellent short concert by three instrumentalists who starred in the Victoria Musical Festival.

The artists were Margaret Pringle, pianist; Herbert Botten, cellist, and John Pimm, violinist.

The programme was a varied one, opening with the famous Andante movement from Beethoven's Trio, followed by a Fritz Kreisler number and "The Evening Star" from Wagner's "Tannhauser," by Herbert Botten. The concert closed with the scherzo from the Beethoven Trio.

Frank Sehl introduced the players. At the conclusion of the concert Herbert J. Pendray, president of the club, presented a bouquet to Miss Pringle.

TELLS HOW CABLE LAID

The story behind the laying of the first Atlantic cable was told to the club by Rotarian B. A. Boase. In a ten-minute talk he described the difficulties encountered by the proponents of the plan and the many breaks in the cable which they suffered.

The cable was laid by the rather novel system of two ships starting in the middle of the ocean and proceeding in opposite directions.

This cable, completed in 1858, only carried 300 messages, including one from Queen Victoria to President Buchanan of the United States, before it broke down completely.

A second cable, laid by the Great Eastern in 1866, was a complete success and was still one of the connecting links across the ocean, said Mr. Boase. He showed samples of the two first cables and explained their construction.

J. A. Kennedy, new member of the club, was introduced to the members by J. V. Johnson.

DEBTS JAILED

MEN who couldn't pay their debts were being jailed in England, when a humanitarian named James Oglethorpe, Oglethorpe, Georgia, as a result, he received a royal charter in June, 1733, got 120 debtors out of prison and set sail with them for America. Arriving early in 1733, they founded a colony at Savannah, Ga., the beginning of the thirteenth colony in America. Not only was Oglethorpe able to keep peace with the Indians, but he gained their loyalty and support in repulsing a Spanish invasion of Georgia.

In 1833, on the 50th anniversary of the founding of Georgia, the United States issued a 3-cent stamp carrying a portrait of General Oglethorpe.

Loan Will Not Raise Taxes

Reeve Crouch Assures Council Borrowings Will Not Mean Higher Levies

Despite a $16,300 loan which the municipality is securing for relief purposes from the government, Reeve William Crouch does not think it will be necessary to increase taxes in Saanich next year. He assured the municipal council yesterday evening that he felt, with the government promising to do something in 1936 about social services, there would not be a higher mill rate for next year.

The reeve's remark came during a debate over the preliminary readings of the loan by-law which will provide Saanich with an additional $16,300 to be used in the purchase of materials for road work this summer.

The by-law was given a stormy passage, with Councillors L. C. Hagan and H. D. Oton standing to their policies of opposing loans unless there was a direct benefit to the taxpayers in the form of a mill rate reduction.

"Even with this loan I think we can cut our taxes next year," the reeve said. "We have the promise of the government that they will do something towards social services next year and this will not raise taxes a bit."

PRINCIPAL IS RELIEF COST

The loan is to be made from the provincial government under the Unemployment Relief Act of 1933, which empowers municipalities to borrow money for direct relief without consulting the taxpayers. It is to be paid for at 5 per cent interest, or $815 a year. The principal represents the cost of direct relief to the municipality for the first six months of this year.

One unusual feature of the agreement under which the loan is made is that it is agreed the loan is to be a direct charge on all revenues of the municipality and shall have priority on all other claims.

Councillor Hagan attacked the policy when it was introduced at the last meeting of the council and continued his opposition yesterday evening, with the support of Councillor Oton.

"If you follow this policy through you will borrow $32,000 by the end of the year," he said.

"But you've got to have this money sooner or later, and we may as well get it now when we only have to spend $1 in places where later we will have to spend $2 or $3," replied Councillor E. C. Warren, Ward Two.

"Well, I'd sooner walk on a cow trail and own my own home than walk on fancy roads, and that's just

SCENES AT Y.M.C.A.'S BEAUTIFUL CAMP SITE

The type of scenery in which the annual summer camp of the Y.M.C.A. will be held can be judged from these two pictures. Above is beautiful Glen Lake, the central feature of the 32-acre plot of land. The lake is some 500 yards long and 200 yards wide, and is surrounded by rocky and wooded country. The view on the right, taken on the two-mile trail which surrounds the camp site. The camp will begin on July 8 for two weeks, and will be open to all boys between the ages of twelve and seventeen, irrespective of Y.M.C.A. membership. Registrations close July 3.

how the situation is among some of the farmers," Councillor Hagan said. "Who said any of our roads are fancy?" asked Councillor G. S. Eden, Ward Seven.

MAINTAIN VALUES
Councillor A. G. Lambrick, Ward Three, asserted it was necessary to maintain roads in order to insure the sale of Saanich property. He was supported in this respect by Councillor Warren.

It was here that the reeve inter-

Would Develop Memorial Ave.

Saanich Defers Proposal to Undertake Upkeep of Lane of Trees

Development of Memorial Avenue for the purpose originally intended and to maintain it as a suitable tribute to British Columbia soldiers who gave their lives in the Great War, was sought by a delegation of the Town Planning and Beautification Committee at the Saanich Council meeting yesterday evening.

Members of the delegation were W. T. Strath, Kenneth Ferguson, G. M. Irwin and W. H. Warren.

Mr. Strath explained the committee consisted of local business men who were interested in the beautification of the city. It was their task to have different organizations take over certain developments which were an asset to the city beauty.

In asking the council to assist in the development of Memorial Avenue, Mr. Strath stated the committee had considered a proposal to replace each of the present alternate plane trees with Lawson cypress, a tree which would not spread to the extent of the plane.

The committee was anxious to know whether Saanich would be prepared to undertake upkeep of the avenue if the committee were able to secure some organization to undertake the new planting and regrading.

The council felt, however, that it was not prepared to undertake this job at this time and considered the proposal one in which both Saanich

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, JUNE 28, 1910
(From The Times Files)

A storm that was not anticipated by those in touch with developments at the City Hall, broke around the head of the new city engineer, Angus C. Smith, at last evening's meeting of the City Council, when Alderman Fullerton made a spirited protest against the board participating in what appeared to be a conspiracy directed against that official. He resented particularly what he characterized as unwarranted interference on the part of G. H. Bryson, assistant city engineer.

A fire yesterday in the home of J. H. Lavrie caused damage to the extent of $1,000. The building and contents were insured in the Aetna Insurance Company, through Hall and Goepel.

His Lordship Bishop MacDonald made a plea for great simplicity in courses of study in a short address at St. Ann's Academy commencement exercises yesterday afternoon. In a forceful address his lordship dealt with the effect of education on character and of character upon religion.

It was learned to-day that St. Louis parties have purchased 30,000 acres of timber in the vicinity of Port Huron for a cash consideration of over $100,000. The deal was put through by C. C. Michener, president of the Red Fir Lumber Company of Nanaimo, but the names of his clients have not been made public. The land was owned by an individual, and the transaction is one of the largest ever made for cash in that district.

Hale and hearty, Rev. John Reid, D.D., one of Victoria's oldest inhabitants yesterday passed his eightieth milestone. Many of his friends who had learned of the occasion called upon the reverend gentleman and submitted their heartiest congratulations.

U.S.S. Yorktown arrived at Esquimalt last evening from Astoria, bound for Anacortes, and will probably remain a day or two at this port. On arrival she fired a salute of three guns and later calls were made on Capt. Vivian, who is in charge of this station; George Phillips, in charge of the navy yard, and U.S. Consul Smith.

National I.O.D.E. Makes Considerable Progress

Mrs. P. E. Corby Tells Local Members of Ottawa Gathering in Splendid Report

That the I.O.D.E. is growing in membership and showing notable progress in all phases of its manifold activities, despite the difficult times, was the keynote of the excellent report of the National Chapter deliberations presented by Mrs. P. E. Corby before local members of the order yesterday evening.

Mrs. Corby represented the Provincial Chapter at the national gathering in Ottawa in May, and her report yesterday was presented before a large gathering of members of Municipal Chapter, at the headquarters in the Union Building.

The report, which was most comprehensive and interesting, sketched in vivid detail the impressive opening ceremonies and service, the numerous brilliant functions arranged for the delegates and the business deliberations and reports. With 223 delegates from all parts of Canada, the total attendance at the Ottawa meeting was about 500.

Among interesting resolutions was one from Port Credit, Ontario, which Mrs. Corby cited as showing "we have it within our own power to correspond direct with our own provincial government authorities, through the proper channels."

The resolution was to protest against the publication and circulation of obscene literature and asked that the federal department be invited to examine these publications, with a view to their strict censorship.

The national convener of Echoes reported that three more chapters in British Columbia had attained the 100 per cent mark, making sixteen in all.

The total circulation showed an increase of 969 over 1933, with total subscriptions amounting to 2,058, and a balance on the right side of the ledger of $1,490.87, a most gratifying result.

The Navy League convener had reported that British Columbia chapters subscribed $645.68 to this phase of the order's work last year, in addition to a great amount of work done for sailors' homes, seamen's institutes, and similar institutions, Mrs. Corby recalled.

Donations to the Susie Sorah memorial had more than doubled those of last year, and work had been

Miss Ethel Whitmore, social editor of The Vancouver Examiner, is spending a few days in the city in the course of an extended holiday tour of the southern States and across Canada, and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

Miss Eileen Shotbolt, a popular June bride-to-be, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. S. G. Gurvey, 3020 Quadra Street. Miss Shotbolt was escorted into the drawing-room by Betty Paul and Betty Gurvey, where a decorated hope chest concealed the various gifts. The rooms were decorated with roses, sweet peas and carnations and a beautiful flower bell, decorated by Mrs. E. Gough, hung in the archway. The evening was spent in music and contests, with solos by Mrs. Georgina Watt, Miss Eileen Shotbolt and Mrs. F. K. Bailey. The winners of the contests were: Mrs. F. K. Bailey, Miss G. Scott, Miss H. Clyde and Miss J. Bailey. The invited guests were: Miss Eileen Shotbolt, Mrs. A. H. Shotbolt, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. F. B. Holland, Mrs. J. Strang, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. J. Watt, Mrs. W. Maynard, Mrs. T. Morrison, Miss Clyde, Misses Gertrude Scott, Javay Williams, Hazel McMahon, Hazel Clyde, Elsie Harte, Jean Bailey, Betty Paul, Betty Gurvey and Mesdames Strang Gurvey.

An enjoyable party was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. G. Field, 920 Selkirk Avenue, in honor of Miss Gladys McRehant, who is to be married shortly. The bride-elect was well known in musical circles and has delighted Victoria audiences on several occasions. She was presented with an early Victorian bridal bouquet of roses and brides' blossoms, with streamers of blue ribbon and tiny rosebuds, by Mrs. W. Deprose (Edmonton). The dainty gifts were concealed in a box, unique and appropriate, covered with silver paper, beautifully decorated with bars of music in staff notation. This was presented by Miss "Tiny" Field. Bridge was played. During the evening Miss McRehant sang a solo, accompanied on the piano by her cousin, Miss Doreen Caldwell. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Field, the table being covered with a lovely lace cloth centred with a bouquet of pink roses and smaller bouquets of bride's blossoms surrounding it. The guests included: Miss Gladys McRehant, Mrs. W. Deprose (Edmonton), Mrs. F. J. Campbell, Mrs. V. Taylor, Mrs. H. Hawkland, Miss Doreen Caldwell, Grace Hendry, Myrna Baker and "Tiny" Field.

Miss Edna Pearmain, who is to be married shortly, was honored by the First Baptist Choir yesterday evening at the home of Rev. G. A. Reynolds, the pastor, and Mrs. Reynolds, 1803 Belmont Avenue. Following the usual choir practice, the president, Mr. James Dismore, presented Miss Pearmain with a handsome silver sandwich tray, with the good wishes and appreciation of the choir, of which she has been a most efficient and popular secretary-treasurer. Mr. Reynolds, in congratulating Miss Pearmain, also thanked the choir leader and members for their loyal service and support to the church. Mr. Oliver Stout, choir leader, also spoke briefly, and wished to the bride and groom a happy and successful future.

Those present included: Rev. and Mrs. Reynolds, Miss Edna Pearmain, Mr. James Dismore, Mr. Oliver Stout, Mr. Freda Spencer, Queenie Spencer, Edna Middleton, Gwen Argyle, Florence Leslie, Jane Hall, Alice Bond, Jean McKean, Sylvia Smith, Christine Honeychurch, Messrs. Fred Burke, William Richardson, G. McEwan, James Dismore, Stanley Honeychurch and Oliver Stout.

OTHER REPORTS

Empire study and immigration, including the encouragement of immigration, was the subject of a report by Mrs. E. B. Osborne, Brangan, B.C. The sum of $3,265.40 had also been contributed by British Columbia chapters towards work among ex-servicemen, including relief for veterans and their families, hospital visiting and Christmas cheer.

Regarding the efforts being made by the national type committee, it was reported at the meeting that the widespread campaign for better pictures in the United States had made a considerable impression on the Hollywood producers, the percentage of acceptable pictures from this source having markedly increased, and the excellent British propaganda which had been pouring out of Hollywood for the past few months "must surely rejoice the hearts of all loyal Canadians."

UNEMPLOYMENT CHALLENGE

Child and family welfare work by the order amounted to $77,000 last year, of which British Columbia had contributed $7,284.14.

The problem of the "300,000 boys and girls who are absolutely idle, and who are in need of occupation and recreation, constitute a challenge to the I.O.D.E., as these boys and girls will shortly be the citizens and voters of Canada," Mrs. Corby reminded the members.

In closing, Mrs. Corby spoke of the valuable help and inspiration which such a gathering as the National meeting was bound to create and which she was privileged to attend as spokesman of the British Columbia Provincial Chapter.

FLOWERS PRESENTED

At the conclusion of her report, Mrs. Corby was accorded a standing vote of thanks. Mrs. William Mills expressing the gratitude of Municipal Chapter and presenting Mrs. Corby with a beautiful basket of flowers.

After the meeting adjourned, Mrs. Corby entertained the members to refreshments when many of those present supplemented the general vote of thanks with their own individual congratulations to her on a splendid report.

Mrs. Harry Mearns and Mr. Bill Mearns returned to their home in the Uplands last night after a holiday tour to California. They were passengers aboard the Emma Alexander.

Miss Elsie Matthews and Mrs. T. Kay were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the home of the latter on Lulu St., in honor of Miss Edna (Teddy) Matthews, a July bride-elect. ## ST. MARK'S GARDEN Party Enjoyable

The garden party held at "Cloverdale," the home of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, on Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of St. Mark's Women's Auxiliary, was an unqualified success, the sunny day bringing many visitors.

There was a short opening address of welcome by Dr. Tolmie and then the affairs of the bazaar were under way. The stalls were convened as follows:

Spencer, by Mrs. J. MacBride, plain sewing by Mrs. E. H. Fisher, apron stall, Mrs. J. Bassett, and Mrs. Seasmith was in charge of the home cooking. Mrs. D. J. Mesher, junior superintendent, was in charge of the J.W.A. stall, and the kitchen arrangements were under the capable management of Mrs. F. Harris. Mrs. W. H. The A.Y.P.A. united their efforts with the W.A. to make the afternoon a success, by helping with the teas and sponsoring a variety of games which attracted the younger members and the men visitors.

The programme included Maypole dancing, the performers each receiving a posy of flowers made up and presented by Raymond Porter, a kindly thought which delighted the dancers and was appreciated by the audience.

The boys' band played a number of selections, which were enthusiastically received, and the afternoon drew to a close with a very satisfactory amount raised towards the funds.

HEALTH IN THE PALM OF YOUR HAND

It's as simple as that... getting rid of that headachy, half-well feeling that keeps so many people from enjoying life. This condition usually comes from some form of constipation. You can avoid it.

"The palm of your hand" refers to the way thousands of men and women take Eno's "Fruit Salt." They pour Eno into the palm of the hand and dash the pure, white powder into a glass of water... and drain the glass. It's a mighty healthful thing to do.

Eno quenches thirst, sweetens the stomach, neutralizes acids from foods. Eno frees the intestines from poisonous waste, cools the bloodstream, tones up the entire inner system. Eno is pleasant to take, gentle in action. Every effect of Eno's "Fruit Salt" is beneficial. Begin now to pour health from the palm of your hand. Handy size 50c. Household size 85c.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MRS. ELDRED TELLS STEPS IN PROPER BATH FOR BABY

Bathing the baby is a simple and enjoyable ceremony if the mother understands the bath supplies conveniently at hand. The baby may be bathed in a rubber bathnet, in any enameled tub or, barring such conveniences, in a dish pan or wash bowl. Up to the time the baby is bathed only sponge baths are given, after that a daily tub is an important health procedure.

Water for the bath should be from 98 to 100 degrees by bath thermometer or comfortably warm to the mother's elbow. The bath may then proceed in the following order.

BATH ROUTINE

Face—Use baby's own wash cloth and wipe off with clear water and dry.

Eyes—Use two separate pieces of clean absorbent cotton, dip in clear water, or salt water, and wipe each eye. Any discharge should be immediately reported to the doctor.

Nose—Dip cotton-tipped toothpicks in baby oil and wipe out each nostril with a separate pick.

Ears—Wash ears when face is washed. Put tiny bit of oil behind eardrums of ears.

Mouth—Do not wash mouth. Report any apparent soreness to doctor.

Head—Wash with soaped washcloth, thoroughly, rinse well, wipe dry. Put baby oil on any scales.

A QUICK DIP

When the above routine has been completed, soap baby all over quickly, washing genitalia, under arms and between toes, well, then dip baby in tub. The baby may be supported along the mother's arm, with the mother's right hand grasping baby's right thigh firmly. Rinse off soap and lift baby out on a large bath towel, patting him dry, and putting oil on buttocks and in all folds of the body. (Powder has been largely superseded by oil, though powder may be used beneficially on the baby whose skin is naturally very oily).

Baby may now be instigated into cotton shirt, square folded diaper and thin nightgown. With all this exercise and excitement to fatigue him and arouse an appetite the baby is ready to devour his 10 a.m. feeding and fall into a two to four hour sleep.

To-morrow: "Mrs. Eldred Gives Schedule for Real Seven Days Baby."

TAKES UP DUTIES AT Y.W.C.A.

MRS. W. E. CUSHING

NEW SECRETARY OF Y.W.C.A. HERE

Mrs. W. E. Cushing Takes Over New Duties, Succeeding Miss Blackley

"It says much for the careful administration of the association that during the last four difficult years not one 'Y' in Canada had to close down. In fact, several new ones were started."

This was one of the many interesting observations made by Mrs. W. E. Cushing, new general secretary of the Victoria Y.W.C.A., during an interview with her yesterday.

Mrs. Cushing comes to Victoria from London, Ontario, after a long experience in "Y" work. Prior to her association with the London branch, she served for some years in the Montreal "Y," where she was in charge of the senior girls' work for the National Association, and has also been general secretary in Brantford and Sault Ste. Marie.

Elaborating on the theme of the problems faced by the Y.W.C.A. in the last few years, Mrs. Cushing observed that the unemployed girl had been one of the first areas to have received sympathetic and careful study.

In the east, this problem had naturally been on a much larger scale than in the west. To meet it, courses had been arranged and programmes planned to occupy the girls during their enforced leisure, in the effort to keep up a morale harassed by the sudden loss of a means of livelihood and independence.

She showed keen interest in the household training courses established at the local "Y" under the regime of Miss Blackley, who recently retired from the local secretariatship and who was associated with Mrs. Cushing in "Y" work in Montreal for some years.

Before leaving the east, Mrs. Cushing attended the fifteenth convention of the Dominion Y.W.C.A. at Ottawa, at which many matters of vital interest to the movement were discussed.

"The Constructive Use of Leisure Time," led by Miss Gertrude Wilson of London, Ontario, was a discussion on "What Is Our Responsibility for the Foreign-born and Children of the Foreign-born in Canada?" and "The Social Meaning of Our Christmas Gifts," led by Professor and Mrs. Vlasov, and the "Responsibility of Canadian Women to Household Workers," were among some of the outstanding topics dealt with.

NOTED SPEAKERS

Lady Beasbrough attended one of the sessions, Senator Cairine Wilson was among the speakers, and at the convention dinner Sir Francis L. Flouffe, K.C.B., High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada, was the speaker, his subject being "The Outlook for Youth."

Miss Winifred Hutchinson gave an interesting resume of the report on the needle industry to the royal commission on price spreads and mass buying, indicative of the association's interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of working women and girls.

Mrs. Cushing's arrival happily coincided with the finishing of a number of much-needed renovations at the local "Y," the floors having been refinished, walls decorated and other improvements made, greatly enhancing the attractiveness of the spacious lounges and halls.

Scholarships and efficiency prizes were given by W.Y.s from coast to coast. Ontario's convener, Mrs. A. D. McDougall of Maxville suggested a national scholarship plan by which candidates would be selected not only for their school and academic work, but also on their promise of leadership. These would be given financial assistance to complete the university course.

The report described the wide range of practical W.I. educational effort including provision of books for school libraries; playground equipment and first aid kits.

STIMULATES CANADIANISM

New Conductor Ladies Choir

Frederick W. Hart Will Direct Singers; Wide Experience

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Victoria Ladies' Choir, Frederick W. Hart was appointed its conductor for the coming year.

Mr. Hart has had considerable experience in choral work, beginning his career as choirmaster of St. Martin's Church, Brighton, England, and was also successful in operatic, choral and band work.

Following this Mr. Hart was appointed its conductor for the coming year. Mr. Hart has had considerable experience in choral work, beginning his career as choirmaster of St. Martin's Church, Brighton, England, and was also successful in operatic, choral and band work.

Mr. Hart came to Canada in search of health, going to Red Deer, Alberta. After recovering his health, he became choirmaster in the church of which Canon Hinchcliffe was then rector.

Here again his operatic and band work was a success. Mr. Hart again served as choirmaster under Canon Hinchcliffe at Chilliwack. Here his operatic society was particularly successful in putting on some of Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera. He also conducted the 140th Regimental Band at Chilliwack.

While visiting in Victoria, Mr. Hart assisted and served as sergeant-instructor of the 1st and 10th Reserve Bands.

At present Mr. Hart is assisting Mr. Basil Horsfall with the rehearsal of the Philharmonic Society.

Mr. Hart is an ardent student of oral mechanics, and is thoroughly conversant with the art of voice production. It is anticipated that the concert of the Victoria Ladies' Choir during the coming season will be unusually interesting.

Membership applications may be obtained from Mrs. J. E. Glover, 1708 King's Road, telephone 9619.

Pupils Score In Dance Recital

On Wednesday evening, at the Bishop O'Grady Memorial Hall, the pupils of Green Noel Dalby were presented in a dance recital. The dancers performed charmingly before a delighted audience.

Mrs. H. Addison, in her usual charming style was accompanist, assisted by Mrs. B. H. Adams, Mrs. Don Smith, Pipe-Major Cameron and Frank White.

Mr. Don Smith made an efficient master of ceremonies.

Piano Students Give Programme

The pupils of Mrs. E. Anderson Fairbairn were presented in recital at her home on Belmont Avenue on Thursday evening, assisted by Miss Gladys Marchant, mezzo soprano.

Masses of roses, foxgloves and carnations decorated the spacious rooms, providing a charming setting for the enjoyable programme.

The senior students gave particular pleasure with their playing. Miss Winifred McAdams contributed the very modern "Tides" (Oswell) and the fiery "Polish Dance" (Scharenka). Miss Kathleen Gurney's numbers were the charming "Ballets d'ans l'Eau" and the sparkling "Arabesque" by Debussy. Miss Velma Anderson also played a Debussy number, giving a brilliant rendition of the lovely and difficult "Poisson d'or."

Miss Margaret Smith gave a splendid performance of Bachmann's Prelude in G Minor and "Frühlingsrauschen" by Hindemith. Mrs. A. A. Bates had as her two numbers Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" and "Country Gardens" (Grainier). Much promise was shown in the work of Miss Annie MacLean, who played Mozart's "Fantasia in D Minor" and "In the Bay" (Swinstead).

Agnes Stringer gave a most creditable performance of the "Shepherd Dance" by Godard and the Prelude in C Minor by Bachmann.

In the intermediate and junior sections all the pupils acquitted themselves with distinction. Outstanding among them were Billy Bryson, playing "Rhapsodie Mignonne" (Koeilin) and Edwin Popham's "Doll Dance" (Oesten).

Arthur Bates played "Gypsy Dance" (Krentler), Eva Aldridge "March" (Wharnclyff), Bob Nickells, "Spring Song" (Bixbie), Walter Calwell, "Ghosts" (Preston), duet, "Pickaninny Capers," by Mrs. Fairbairn, by Edwin Popham and Donna Munro, and the March from "Norma" (Bellini), by W. Calwell and Bob Nickells; Theo Tait, Allegretto (Schumann); Donna Munro, "Evening Bells" (Schmidt).

Prizes were awarded Agnes Stringer and Billy Bryson for making the most rapid progress during the year.

The assisting artist for the evening, Miss Gladys Marchant, was most enthusiastically received, her lovely voice being much appreciated. Her first group included "Florian's Song," by Godard and the Lilac Tree by Gertrude, the second comprising "The Elf Tree" (Walls) and "In an Old-fashioned Garden" (Squires).

Both Miss Marchant and Mrs. Fairbairn were presented with beautiful bouquets as a token of appreciation.

Women's Institutes Taking Advantage of Opportunities For Study, Convention Told

Canadian Press

Charlottetown, June 28.—Women's Institutes of Quebec have led the way in taking advantage of the adult education courses emanating from Canadian universities, according to the report of Mrs. M. E. Noble of Hatzic, B.C., national convener of the education committee reporting to the convention of the federation here.

With the co-operation of McGill University twenty-three of Quebec's eighty-five branches have formed study groups.

B.C. INTERESTED

Ontario's new superintendent, Miss Beasbrough, was developing the idea further in the organization of local leadership, the report stated.

British Columbia W.I.s were taking advantage of the University of British Columbia's extension services, financed by the Carnegie corporation. Nova Scotia and Alberta branches were receiving extension service from Dalhousie and Alberta universities.

Scholarships and efficiency prizes were given by W.I.s from coast to coast. Ontario's convener, Mrs. A. D. McDougall of Maxville suggested a national scholarship plan by which candidates would be selected not only for their school and academic work, but also on their promise of leadership. ## APPRECIATION OF FRED LANDSBERG

Welfare Foundation Voices Regret Over Loss of Philanthropist

A resolution of heartfelt regret on the loss of a highly respected colleague, Fred Landsberg, was passed at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Welfare Foundation. A letter was sent to his daughter, Mrs. Fitzsimmons, expressing appreciation of the splendid example that his life inspired.

A report and itemized statement of Joe North's endeavor for Sunshine Inn during the month of May was submitted and the acknowledgment and sincere appreciation of the directors was expressed.

The financial statement covering the month of May was submitted and showed a surplus of receipts over disbursements amounting to $134.69, the surplus being principally due to Mr. North's contribution, which netted a total sum of $277.90.

An independent report covering the advantages and disadvantages to small children eating at Sunshine Inn and outlining the present and future results in a comprehensive manner was read and seriously considered by the board.

Arrangements were confirmed whereby no worthy person would be compelled to suffer during the period that Sunshine Inn will be closed, which will commence on July 1. A member of the permanent staff will be retained, and is required to be at Sunshine Inn between the hours of 3 and 4:30 p.m. each day, when anyone destitute and finding themselves unable to provide food for themselves can apply for an order for a substantial meal at a city restaurant. Meal tickets will be issued for a single meal at a time and they will not be negotiable or transferable under any circumstances.

A total of 3,400 meals were provided in May, or a daily average of 110.

Foresee No Rise In Price of Newsprint

Canadian Press
Montreal, June 28.—No increase in the price of newsprint was in sight for this year, L. J. Belnap, president of Consolidated Paper Corporation Limited, yesterday told the annual meeting of shareholders of the company. Mr. Belnap said there was little hope for relief from the present plight of the industry in the rising trend of consumption without an increase in price. While Canadian newsprint production last year was approximately 98 per cent of 1929, the peak year, the excess capacity at the present time was estimated at 25 per cent, he said.

Murray Patrick Adds Washington Boxing Title To Honor List

THE SPORTS MIRROR

In the opinion of the committee in charge of the Pacific Northwest amateur tournament, the tournament takes second place only to the United States amateur in the simon-pure tournaments staged on this continent so far this year.

Jimmy Todd, Victoria Golf Club champion and only Canadian to qualify, believes the golf was plenty hot. The local player, one of twelve Canadians entered, was beaten 2 and 1 in the Tuesday round leading up to the quarter final.

Included in the 140 starters were several former Walker Cup players, with state stars from as far south as California. The course, a long lay-out, with a par 72, was in excellent shape, Todd reported, and the pace set in the qualifying round was particularly good, 161 being the lowest score to reach the quarter final groupings for match play. Todd coupled a 73 with a 76 to qualify with a 151.

A qualifier in the Canadian amateur of a preceding year and a competitor in several good tournaments in British Columbia and outside points, Todd figures this year's P.N.W. was the best tournament in which he has yet played.

Eliminated by Clyde Finlay, Seattle, the Victoria boy did not finish with the P.N.W. by a long way. "I need more experience" was his comment on his day.

Vancouver and Canadian hopes in the Wimbledon tennis tournament did not last long among the leaders of the game gathered at the All-England Tennis Club courts when play opened this week.

The two Terminal City misses, Carolyn Deacon and Eleanor Young, champions in their own rights in the Canadian field, made their exit in the women's doubles yesterday after going out in the second round in the singles play. The Montreal men, headed by Marcelle Rainville and Laird Watt, fared much the same way in the men's section.

To Rainville the draw was probably the worst it could have been. In the first match in the opening round he met Fred Perry. He had as much chance of hurdling that barrier as a kid does of jumping a ten-foot ball fence. And he did not rub it in, he and Roland Longtin, a fellow townman, were drawn against Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon in the doubles, which gave them just as much chance of winning as he had against Perry. However they may feel about their early exit from the doubles play, they have the consolation of having won a match down before one of the foremost doubles pairings in the world.

With the Canadian girls, reports indicated, nervousness accounted for their inability to stand the pace set by their more experienced opponents. They did not go far, but at least they have broken the ice and have shown they have enjoyed a tournament from which they have derived pointers which should stand them in good stead in the future.

Further, they have opened up a path not trodden by Canadian women for the last few years. At least, they have broken the ice and have shown they have enjoyed a tournament from which they have derived pointers which should stand them in good stead in the future.

For Rainville the results were a little harsh. The diminutive French Canadian has done fairly well in the singles play, but he has shown in the Canadian lists for some time. But they drew him against the Goliaths, and his Davidson sling was not powerful enough.

The sporting world does not yet know whether to laugh at or between the recent challenge sent to Jean Borotra by an irate French tennis writer demanding satisfaction on the field of honor for insults each alleges the other has hurled. In Canada or the United States, the "boys," if they felt that way about it, would take to the space behind the grandstand, peel off their jackets and see which fist hit the harder.

But that does not appeal to the Gallic temperament, evidently. Borotra, a husky towering figure more like an ox than the average lanky tennis player, should have been able to acquit himself rather well with a pair of fists. The joker seemed to be that his challenger, Didier Foulain, a Paris tennis writer, also happened to be an ex-champion with a sword. So they are going to fight it out in the air—no hits, no runs, no errors.

According to press dispatches the trouble started when Foulain accused Borotra of "laying down on the job" by refusing to play Davis Cup singles for France and thereby impairing its chances, while he was willing to play singles at Wimbledon. Borotra replied, evidently, with some stinging retort which Foulain figured cast a blot on his escutcheon.

From fragmentary reports that have filtered through, it is difficult to understand why Foulain should have directed the attack at Borotra. Where,

Boxes and Slugs Way To Victory In Great Final

Bout Feature of Programme Which Marks End of Record Fight Tourney in Seattle

Charlie Jordan Drops Decision

Associated Press
Seattle, June 28.—Having seen more knockouts, more action and more gore than many moons of boxing shows have produced here, Seattle took stock of the Washington State amateur boxing tourney results and found but one resident took a title yesterday evening.

The new champions are:
Flyweight—Manuel Fuste, Olympia Club, San Francisco.
Bantamweight—Cletio Prenzano, Los Angeles.
Featherweight—Clarence Spencer, Olympia Club, San Francisco.
Lightweight—Paul Waller, Washington State College, Pullman.
Welterweight—Don Weed, Multnomah A.C., Portland.
Middleweight—Willis Bailey, U.S.S. Mississippi.
Light heavyweight—Francis Anderson, U.S.S. Colorado.
Heavyweight—Murray Patrick, Victoria, B.C.

Probably the two "sweetest" of the title matches were those at the extreme ends of the weight scale—the tiny flyweights and the brawny heavies.

CROWD WILD
Patrick, Canadian title holder, son of Lester Patrick, and manager of the New York Rangers hockey team, slugged and boxed a fan-thrilling five rounds to a decision over Dave Johnson, Spizley's Boxing Club, Portland. Patrick won the hard way, coming out in the final after a rough bout with Wesley Hayes, Seattle Athletic Club, while Johnson breezed through on a bye. Tired from the rugged battle his semi-final had given him, the Victoria boy still possessed enough stamina to outbox the Portlander, and more than hold his own when it came to toe-to-toe slugging.

Although Johnson gave nearly as good as he took in that department, the crowd went wild as the boys smashed, driving blows to the body and head, and finished the five rounds still on their feet.

While clearly better than Johnson, the Victorian could not dispose of his opponent or his semi-final rival the way he did in the first round when he knocked out Clayton Thompson, Everett, Y.M.C.A.

PRETTY FIGHT
Fuste, rugged little Coast and Golden Gloves champion, belted out a rousing five-rounder to a decision with Marvin Whipp, former Pacific Northwest amateur champ, of Snoqualmie, Wash. They went at it hammer and tongs all the way, and it was a close one.

In the lightweight semi-finals, George Clare, Seattle Athletic Club, knocked out Robert Bates, Washington State College, in the second round with a right to the solar plexus, and Paul Waller, Washington State College, took a decision over Charley Jordan, Victoria, B.C.

DECIDED EDGE
Prenzano won easily in a decision match over Cliff Nelson, Spizley Boxing Club 110-pounder. Spencer took his title home to San Francisco by knocking out Andy Tidcock, Washington, in the quarter-finals, won at 6-3, 6-2, 5-0.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, No. 2 seeded player, eliminated Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-1, 5-0, to reach the quarter-finals.

In the men's singles, Margaret when or how the Frenchman played was a matter for himself to settle, according to Canadian sports ethics.

There's just a possibility the whole scheme may be a publicity gag. If it is, it has been put over very neatly.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

The wars of Napoleon, his master strokes of military strategy, the campaigns that once seemed so important—these to-day are little more than memories. The very things for which he fought have long since ceased to be, and Napoleon himself saw the futility of war when, putting away his life at St. Helena, he said, "War is the business of barbarians. I am a peace man."

The one lasting monument to Napoleon's reign, strange as it seems, was a product of peace. It was his Code Napoleon, a compilation of laws completely restating the law of France, and so well compiled that it not only still serves France, but is the basis for law of numerous other nations.

The Code Napoleon is the most celebrated of modern codes. It is in force in Belgium, Holland, several Swiss cantons, and Italy, either as a whole or as a basis for their codes. On this continent the laws of Quebec and of Louisiana are based on the Code Napoleon, as are the laws of many Central and South American countries.

This monumental work was compiled in four months by the outstanding legal minds of France under the direction of Napoleon who, strange as it seems, predicted that it would be looked upon by future generations as his crowning glory.

Tomorrow: The eighteen-year-old sage.

Grover Alexander Will Pitch Here

Scheduled to Go Three Innings When House of David Play Sons of Canada at Athletic Park on Wednesday; Two Games To-morrow

Sons of Canada ball players, with two games before them to-morrow and another pair on Monday, had their eyes set chiefly to-day on what promises to be the season's classic, the exhibition against the House of David on Wednesday evening.

To-morrow, when they stack up against the smart Anacortes team in two fixtures scheduled to start at 2:30 and 6 o'clock at the Athletic Park, the first base will be home, and the pitching staff will be made up of Miller, Anderson, Erickson, and Tommy James, Tacoma boys, who have shown smart form here in previous games, helping them, ALEXANDER TO PITCH.

When the House of David stars take the field on Wednesday evening, they will have the greatest attraction that any traveling baseball club has ever had in Grover Cleveland Alexander, considered the greatest pitcher of all time. He will start the game in the box and pitch three innings. He is also manager of the club.

The rest of the pitching staff will be made up of Miller, Anderson, Erickson, Dacus and Ambrose. The infield is without a question the greatest infield ever put out by the House of David. On the first base will be Boone, one of the greatest fielding first basemen in baseball. Second will be taken over by Moon Mullin, a really great second baseman, with shortstop Chozen, one of the finest fielding shortstops in baseball. Third base will be covered by Anderson, a great ball player, who is expected some day to make his mark in the major leagues. In the outfield will be Zoellers, Ingram and Tollie, a fast hard hitting outfield. The catching will be handled by Dewey Hill. Dutch Faust will be utility.

KINGFISH TO FIGHT LOUIS

Levin's Next Opponent For Brown Bomber in Fight-a-month Programme

Canadian Press
New York, June 28.—While New York promoters debate whether Max Baer or Max Schmeling will be his next Metropolitan opponent, Joe Louis is making hay while the sun beams.

As a tune-up for Baer or Schmeling, the "Brown Bomber" has agreed to take on the redoubtable King Levin's in Chicago in August. In line with their "fight-a-month" policy, his managers say they are not averse to another tilt sometime in July.

No opponent is barred. The only stipulation is that the prize must be right.

Just when or under whose auspices the Levin's fight will be held is undecided.

Meanwhile, Mike Jacobs was cheered by word from Baer that he expects to be ready to meet Louis in September.

The former champion has had new X-rays taken, and specialists have assured him that if he will put his right hand in a plaster cast for three weeks, he will be as good as new.

If Jack Doyle, the Irish heavy, cares to risk his classic feature, Jacobs may toss him into the ring with Louis next month.

COMPETITION FOR ANGLERS

Second Contest to Be Staged By Victoria Saanich Inlet Association on Sunday

Fishermen will be out in force at Brentwood on Sunday when the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association stages its second competition. The first one of the year was held a fortnight ago.

As final plans are being completed for the event, news pours in of big and bigger fish responding to lures at Brentwood.

A. S. Denny, Horce Beer, K. C. Cooper, J. T. Cocking, Herb Cummings, B. Whitwell and O. C. Finmore have all bagged "button" fish recently. Percy Stacey reports that a Mr. Farrel caught four fish, over twenty pounds on Tuesday afternoon and a thirty-two pounder last week.

W. B. Christopher and George Laird are in charge of the local committee for Sunday's competition. Sponsors include Major Roger Monteth, Geo. Strath, H. Brockington, Home Oil Distributors, Dr. Hugh Clarke, B. C. Peets and the Vancouver Drug Company.

ONE CHANGE IN CRICKET TEAM

Brydon to Play For Victoria Monday; Vancouver Line-up Announced

One change in the Victoria team to play Vancouver all-stars in the intercity all-day cricket match at University School grounds on Monday, was announced to-day by officials in charge of the fixture.

Jack Brydon, Incogs, will replace A. Griffin of the Five O's on the team.

The team to represent Vancouver in the match was announced by Secretary W. M. Silcock of the mainland cricket league, as follows: Tom Reed (captain), George Berridge, Percy Broadfoot, M. H. Davey, P. Henson, Robin Johnston, V. Parkinson, Norman Pearson, A. R. Roughton, A. Salt Jr. and W. G. Scott.

SEATTLE FINAL IN P.N.W. GOLF SURE

Four Sound City Players Eliminate Oregon Hopes in Men's Section; Interstate Rivalry Still in Women's Play

Associated Press
Seattle, June 28.—Oregon's hope of regaining the Pacific Northwest amateur golf championship after a lapse of two years had faded to-day when four Seattle youngsters moved into the semi-finals by moving out Don Moe and Eddie Hogan, Portland, and H. Chandler, Egan, Medford, Ore.

Oregon still very much in the running, however, in the women's division with Marian McDougall, defending champion, and Florence Selkirk, both Portland, hitting up a fast clip in opposite brackets.

Miss McDougall was matched with Barbara Tesch Thompson, Palo Alto, Calif., and Miss Selkirk was paired with Mrs. Vera Hutchings Ford, Seattle, former British Columbia champion, in the eighteen-hole semi-finals to-day.

And in the thirty-six years of competition, Oregon stars have won nineteen times.

Much of the color was pulled out of the fast tournament by the elimination of the three famous Oregon men, but prospects of a friendly "grudge" match became possible between Seattle's two great shotmakers, Harry Givan and Scotty Campbell, with the two youngsters playing in opposite brackets in the semi-finals to-day.

Givan was meeting Clyde Finlay, and Campbell was tugging with Dick Haskell.

MOE BEATEN
Givan defeated Moe one up. Campbell defeated Hogan, 6 and 4. Haskell eliminated Egan, 3 and 2, and Finlay downed Harry Hjerf, 6 and 5, yesterday.

Budge Reaches Quarter Finals

Young California Player Beats Christian Boussois To Advance in Wimbledon Tennis; Peggy Scriven Eliminated

Associated Press
London, June 28.—Donald Budge, powerful young hitter from Oakland, Calif., smashed his way to victory over Christian Boussois of France, the eighth seeded player, in the fourth round of the All-England tennis championships to-day. Budge, qualifying for the quarter-finals, won at 6-3, 6-2, 5-0.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, No. 2 seeded player, eliminated Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-1, 5-0, to reach the quarter-finals.

Track Heads Plan Big Match Race

Associated Press
Detroit, June 28.—Clarence E. Ehr, manager of the Detroit Racing Association, announced yesterday that Azucar, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery would run a match race here to-morrow for a $10,000 purse.

The race will be a substitute for the $25,000 Detroit Handicap, called off earlier because of the injury of Head Play, star of Mrs. Silas B. Mason's stable.

The pepper game, which is known the country over, will be put on at the fifth inning by Miller, Faust and Tollie. This pepper game is easily worth the price of admission.

The House of David Club in 1934 won the Denver Post championship and winning prize of $2,415. The club is the only outfit that has ever

Mickey Cochrane Announces American League Squad; Frisch Picks Nationals

MANAGERS AID IN SELECTION

Chicago, June 28.—After almost as many sleepless nights as he spent last fall worrying over his battle plans for the world series, Manager Mickey Cochrane of Detroit today announced his American League line-up of twenty players for the third all-star game against the National forces at Cleveland, July 8.

Every club in the circuit was represented in the lineup selected by Cochrane with the aid of seven other managers in the league.

The lineup, altered at the last minute because of the injury to outfielder Earl Averill of Cleveland, batting star of last year's American League triumph, follows:

GIANTS, CARDS DOMINATE

New York, June 28.—The National League yesterday decided to call six members of the league-leading New York Giants and a half-dozen of the world champions, St. Louis Cardinals, to the colors in a concentrated effort to train its heaviest guns on the rival American League forces in the third annual all-star game, to be held July 8 in the huge Municipal Stadium at Cleveland. All eight clubs, however, are represented on the squad of twenty players, selected by Frank Frisch, manager of the Cardinals, Frisch, who will direct the team with the aid of the league's "best minds," based his choices on the recommendations of other managers and club owners.

ington State College, Pullman, in the second round after flooring Tidrick once.

For the glory of the United States navy, Anderson gained a decision and the light heavyweight title over Ben Robertson, Multnomah A.C., Portland.

Willie Bailey, U.S.S. Mississippi, did some more naval glorification, in a thriller which won him the decision and the middleweight title over Tom Nachand, Seattle A.C.

Bailey knocked Nachand down twice in the first, second and fourth rounds. Nachand staged a dazzling rally in the fourth, and the boys were mixing it up evenly at the final fifth round bell.

MLARNIN AFTER CANZONERI BOUT

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 28.—Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver Irish battler who twice attained the world's welterweight championship and twice was dethroned by Barney Ross, is keen on a fight with Tony Canzoneri, provided his manager, "Pop" Foster, can reach a financial agreement.

Jimmy returned home yesterday. He said he is eager for a return bout with Ross and figures he can regain the welter title.

"The decision of the judges in my last fight with Ross was a surprise to me," Jimmy said. "I thought I had the fight by an even wider margin than when I regained my title from him last year."

TILICUMS NINE TO OPPOSE NAVY

Tillicums, much improved nine in the Commercial Baseball League, will stack up against the Navy squad at 6:15 o'clock this evening at the Athletic Park.

Either Lloyd Jones or "Wack" Osman will go to the mound for the clubmen, while Parker will do the twirling for the sailors. Ship will catch for the Tillicums.

Tillicums have three wins to their credit, while the sailors have not yet scored their first victory. When these two teams stack up against each other this evening a keen contest is expected, since the last game between the two resulted in a win for the Tillicums by two runs.

DYNAMITING THE ALP

Scoring a technical knockout over Primo Carnera in the sixth round, Joe Louis, Detroit's "brown bomber," became one of the nation's leading contenders for Jim Braddock's heavyweight crown Tuesday night. The upper photo shows Carnera going down for the third time in the sixth round, while the referee motions Louis back. The lower picture shows the coldly emotionless Joe Louis, standing over beaten Primo Carnera like a jungle beast awaiting the opportunity to complete the "kill." The elemental scene was enacted just a few seconds before Referee Arthur Donovan stepped between the negro Venus and his huge Italian foe to end the fight on a technical knockout in the sixth round. Badly battered but courageous, Carnera again tried to rise after being dropped to the canvas three times within a few seconds by Louis's irresistible assault to the head that left his mouth bleeding profusely.

Hitters Have Field Day In Major Loops

Athletics Blast Down Red Sox; Yankees Belt Washington Pitchers; Missions Lead in Coast League

Associated Press

After nearly half a season of trying to make the best of things, it begins to look as if Boston Red Sox again will have to resign themselves to taking a place among the also rans of the American League until they can get more effective pitching.

The Sox just couldn't do anything right yesterday against the Athletics, who in turn couldn't do anything wrong and as a result Philadelphia won 14 to 2.

While Johnny Marcum was pitching four-hit ball for the A's, Pinky Higgins connected for three home runs, two with runners on bases. Bob Johnson slammed his seventeenth circuit drive of the season and Marcum tossed in one among the fifteen swats off Ferrell and Henry Johnson.

BIG HITTING DAY

The Athletics' heavy hitting set the example for the entire major league programs. The Yankees, belting four pitchers for nineteen hits, including Ben Chapman's homer, walloped Washington 18 to 5 and increased their lead over the idle Cleveland Indians to three and a half games.

The Tigers went after the third-place White Sox with a home run barrage topped by Hank Greenberg's twentieth four-ply drive of the year and came out with a 9 to 5 decision which put them into a virtual tie with the Pale Hose.

Felix Fox, Charley Gehring and Mickey Cochrane also hit Tiger homers.

The Braves and Phillies slugged it out in a doubleheader that was the only National League affair scheduled and wound up on even terms. Boston won the opener 11 to 1, but went down 5 to 7 in the second clash.

MISSIONS ON TOP

Those Missions finally did it. To-day they are perched proudly on top of the Pacific Coast League baseball heap, for the first time in nearly two years. They got there by winning their fourth consecutive game, beating Sacramento 6 to 3, while Los Angeles was bowing to Portland 11 to 0.

The Angels, who had been tied with the Reds for the league leadership, could do nothing to stop Portland. Portland was apparently celebrating the news that Hack Wilson, former National League batting king, will soon join the club.

Clarence Mitchell failed to strike out a single Senator batsman, but good support by the Mission infield, and especially Catcher Chick Outen, limited the Senators to nine hits. Outen balanced himself on the railing separating the box seats from the playing field to catch a foul fly for the day's most spectacular putout.

SHELLENBACK WINS

Manager Frank Shellenback twirled Hollywood to a 5 to 1 victory over Oakland. The Stars had lost three games in a row.

It was "Hunt" night in Seattle, and the slugging Indiana outfielder celebrated it by whamming a screaming line drive over the bleachers for his nineteenth homer, as he helped defeat San Francisco 7 to 4.

Ireland's Pride Beats Mat Champ

Dan O'Mahoney Hands Jim Londo First Beating in Six Years to Strip Him of Title

Associated Press
Boston, June 28.—Dan O'Mahoney, a young giant from County Cork, who marched in the ranks of the Irish Free State army only seven months ago, paraded to-day at the head of the heavyweight wrestling division. The Irish grappler yesterday evening stripped Jim Londo, the Greek Adonis, of his title before a crowd of 30,000.

The twenty-two-year-old 224-pound Celt, who had won his previous fifty-eight matches in the United States, ended a one fall match by pinning Londo's shoulders with a flying body scissors after an hour and sixteen minutes.

It was the first defeat of the St. Louis Greek, whose championship claims were recognized in thirty-eight states, had suffered in six years, with the exception of the disputed victory gained by Joe Savold, former Notre Dame football star, about two years ago.

O'Mahoney, who used his spectacular Irish whip to overcome all of his other opponents, applied his surprise hold after Londo had broken loose from two whips the Irishman started during the last few seconds of grappling.

DRIVEN TO CANVAS

After the Greek pulled free of the second one, O'Mahoney leaped at him and wrapped his legs about his rival's barrel-like chest with such force the latter was driven to the mat. Londo's shoulders struck the canvas and he was unable to squirm free during the three seconds that elapsed after his heavy crash.

Youth Programme Will Move Ahead

Apprenticeships and Vocational Guidance Are Next Steps in B.C. Government's Scheme to Put Young Men Into Provincial Industries

Two more sections of the provincial government's youth programme will be started within the next few weeks, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, announced this morning.

With 500 youths now placed in training camps on forestry and placer-mining, the minister turned his attention to a state-regulated apprenticeship system and a vocational guidance plan.

Yesterday the government named an advisory committee under the new Apprenticeship Act, consisting of Dr. W. A. Carrothers of the Economic Council as chairman; Adam Bell, deputy minister of labor; James Thompson, a member of the board of industrial relations and a past president of the Trades and Labor Council of Vancouver; J. K. MacRae, head of a voluntary committee in Vancouver, which has been working on the apprenticeship scheme, and Col. J. Keen, construction expert.

Within the next ten days an apprenticeship inspector will be chosen and the Apprenticeship Act will be proclaimed, the minister said. This will immediately bring into effect an apprenticeship system in certain of the construction trades designated by the act. After an experimental period, the government will consider bringing in other trades.

Following this will be the formation of a provincial vocational bureau, headed by a vocational guidance officer.

The bureau will work together with the apprenticeship scheme.

AID TO CARVE CAREERS

"Our main purpose in this programme," said Mr. Pearson, "is to encourage youth to carve their careers in our own industries."

"We have five chief industries in the province—lumbering, mining, agriculture, fishing and construction. In the past there has been little encouragement for young men to go into these industries—as a matter of fact it is of the case in all industries. Sometimes it is because of a lack of trained men here and sometimes because no help is given—local youth to establish themselves."

"Our vocational bureau will endeavor to direct young men coming out of schools into the opportunities that are available in our industries. It is not so much a psychoanalyzing bureau to discover what they are fitted for, but to point the way to the jobs that are open and encourage youth to take them."

INDUSTRIES CO-OPERATE

"Both the lumbering and mining industries have already shown great willingness to co-operate. 'Another feature of the bureau will be to demonstrate to employers the benefit of encouraging our own youth.'"

"If our youth does not get employment in these five major industries there is only a small proportion that can get occupation in the professions or the minor industries. That is why we want to establish this definite link between those leaving schools and the jobs that are waiting."

The apprenticeship system will be conducted through the vocational bureau, which will be a properly regulated training course, bound by indentures to learn the trades."

The apprenticeship act at present is only a skeleton. It will be properly regulated training course, bound by indentures to learn the trades."

"Another feature of the bureau will be to demonstrate to employers the benefit of encouraging our own youth."

"If our youth does not get employment in these five major industries there is only a small proportion that can get occupation in the professions or the minor industries. That is why we want to establish this definite link between those leaving schools and the jobs that are waiting."

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Douglas Alder, aged fifty-one years, of Van Alton, B.C., who died on Tuesday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, will be held to-morrow at 2 p.m. in the St. James' Episcopal Church.

CELONA APPEAL CONTINUES HERE

The four sitting justices of the Court of Appeal to-day considered the character of business carried on in the Vancouver hotels operated by Joe Celona and his associates, in the continuation of the hearing of Celona's appeal against the twenty-one year sentence for white slavery handed to him by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald at the conclusion of the Assize Court trial.

Stuart Henderson, chief counsel for Celona, referred to the evidence that Celona had on February 5, 1934, bought furniture to fix up a private apartment in a six-story Hastings Street-East hotel, which he and his partners had acquired. Mr. Henderson said it could not be assumed that he did this with the idea of operating it as a brothel. Even by the prosecution's own evidence there was no indication of immorality going on in the hotel from February 5 until as late as July.

Mr. Justice McQuarrie said he could not believe Celona innocent of knowledge of immorality being practiced on a large scale after that date in the hotel in which he had his personal apartment. He wanted to know why Celona, if his intentions were good, had not put all immoral women out of the hotel.

"My lord, if you adopted the practice of putting out every woman you might think fast or indiscreet at times, you would have very few people in your hotels, even in the best of them," Mr. Henderson replied.

Mr. Justice McPhillips asked whether the hotels in which Celona had been interested were still being run as disorderly houses.

Mr. Henderson replied that they went out of that business and the partnerships dissolved just after the prosecution began following Mayor McGee's election.

The appeal is continuing.

Women Size Up New Signal Idea

It is the elderly persons who seem to have the most trouble with the new traffic signal lights. Two women were on the Fort Street corner, watching the lights to decide when they might cross. They waited for some time. Then one turned to the other:

"I have it figured out now," she said. "It is green for the cars to go and red for the pedestrians. Come on. Let's go," and away they marched across the road.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

Beverly Hills, June 28.—To the Editor of The Times:—One thing you got to say for an administration that tries out a lot of plans, some of 'em are apt to be pretty good. Now this one that broke out yesterday where they help out these young folks, that sounds awful good. Course I look for editorial condemnation, but it's going to cost money but if you help out the young folks up to twenty and the old ones over sixty, it's only a good idea. A little stretch in between of about forty years where he has to do something for himself (or herself) immediately brings into effect an apprenticeship system in certain of the construction trades designated by the act. After an experimental period, the government will consider bringing in other trades.

Following this will be the formation of a provincial vocational bureau, headed by a vocational guidance officer.

The bureau will work together with the apprenticeship scheme.

Even by the prosecution's own evidence there was no indication of immorality going on in the hotel from February 5 until as late as July.

Mr. Justice McQuarrie said he could not believe Celona innocent of knowledge of immorality being practiced on a large scale after that date in the hotel in which he had his personal apartment. He wanted to know why Celona, if his intentions were good, had not put all immoral women out of the hotel.

"My lord, if you adopted the practice of putting out every woman you might think fast or indiscreet at times, you would have very few people in your hotels, even in the best of them," Mr. Henderson replied.

Mr. Justice McPhillips asked whether the hotels in which Celona had been interested were still being run as disorderly houses.

Mr. Henderson replied that they went out of that business and the partnerships dissolved just after the prosecution began following Mayor McGee's election.

The appeal is continuing.

BACK FISH STORY WITH A SNAPSHOT

It is characteristic of fish stories that half the time they are never believed. A man's word, never doubted on any other occasion, is invariably questioned when he tells of the salmon he has landed or of a wonderful catch of trout. Fishermen of Vancouver Island are inclined to send in snapshots of their catches. They do not have to be "button fish." Any creditable catch made in salt or fresh water will be accepted. All pictures clear enough for reproduction will be published. Write the name of the fisherman and particulars where caught and mail it to The Victoria Daily Times, marked "fishing picture."

BAD REPUTATION GIVEN
ONIONS IN FOOD SURVEY

Check Shows This Vegetable, With Cabbage and Apples, Leads in Causing Stomach Distress

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

A little detective work to discover the foods that disagree with the most people reveals three flagrant offenders - onions, cabbage, and apples.

One doctor who studied 500 cases of "food disagreement" found onions causing trouble in 27 per cent of the cases, milk and milk products in 26 per cent, raw apples in 26, and cooked cabbage in 25.

Chocolate was responsible in 18 per cent of the cases and radishes in 17, tomatoes in 15, cucumbers and eggs in 13 each. Next came fats, greasy and rich foods in 12 per cent, meats in 11, strawberries and coffee in 10 each, and a number of other foods which had less than 10 per cent of trouble associated with their use.

When 400 patients who complained of gas, belching, flatulence, or distension were examined, it was found again that onions, cabbages and apples led all the trouble-makers.

Symptoms caused by sensitivity to foods may vary from distress associated with the stomach and intestines to headaches, attacks of asthma, nervous disturbances, eruptions, heartburn, regurgitation, and abdominal distension.

Interestingly enough, some persons who could not eat raw onions or raw apples without distress could digest cooked onions and apples without any trouble; others who did not dare to eat boiled cabbage managed very well with coleman of sauerkraut.

Particularly interesting is the fact that so many people are sensitive to chocolate.

If any one fact was established by these studies of the peculiar reactions which people have to foods, it was the interesting observation that they vary so greatly in their reactions to the same foods.

This emphasizes again the necessity for individualizing human beings in relationship to their diseases.

Not all the trouble after eating foods is due to sensitivity. Apparently there are some people whose bowels are irritated by chemical factors associated with certain foods.

Among the foods which seem to cause the least trouble to the most people are lamb, gelatin, butter, rice, barley, tapioca, lima or string beans,
cooked apples, beets, asparagus, peas,
potatoes, turnips, parsnips, artichokes, pumpkins, cooked pasta, and weak tea.

CAGNEY TAKES LEAD IN "G-MEN"
The drive against master criminals has been made into a thrilling drama by First National Pictures, and with James Cagney in the stellar role, will open at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

Those fearless secret service men whose exploits in rounding up the arch desperadoes have been told in newspaper headlines for the last year are called "G-men," and
"G-men" is the title of the screen's first dramatization of their battles with public enemies.

The picture follows the career of one of these "G-men" from the time he joined the service, through his training period, through machine gun battles with gangsters to a thrilling climax in which he finally rounds up, and exterminates, a gang of murderous kidnappers.

Cagney, heretofore Hollywood's most famous "bad man," now depicts the "G-man" who sets the deadly trap for the mad dog of the mobs and brought the "Big Shot," whom no one could hold, to an ignominious death.

IN MUSICAL ROMANCE

Sonnie Hale, Jan Kiepura and Maria Eggerth in one of the most amusing scenes in the Gaumont British musical comedy picture "My Heart is Calling," now at the Dominion Theatre.

"MY HEART IS CALLING"

Jan Kiepura and Maria
Eggerth in Musical Romance at Dominion

The new GB production, "My Heart is Calling," starring the celebrated tenor Jan Kiepura, opened at the Dominion Theatre to-day. It was awarded a welcome that left no doubt as to the magnetic quality of this musical comedy romance.

Its chief attraction is for the devotes of music in the person and voice of the captivating Jan Kiepura.
But here is that unusual thing—a musical comedy offering a sharply defined, interesting plot, in direct contrast to the flimsy yarn usually forming a background for this type of picture. With its laughing interludes, which are many and irresistible, is mingled the progress of a romantic love affair, between Kiepura and his leading lady, Miss Maria Eggerth, that is colorful, pleasing and just sentimental enough to suit the joyous atmosphere surrounding the entire story.

Kiepura, besides three arias from "La Tosca," sings two fascinating ballads, one of them the theme song,
"My Heart is Calling," from which the picture title is taken; the other,
"You, Me and Love," an exquisitely haunting waltz melody, to the strains of which Miss Eggerth dances gracefully in a hall of mirrors, joining in the refrain with her clear, soprano voice.

COACHING OF LAGGARD STUDENTS HAS LOST SCHOLASTIC STIGMA

Many parents are distressed when report cards are marked "conditional" in one subject or another.

This means the work must be gone over and a test passed in the fall in order to clear the slate for promotion.

Often it requires tutoring if the student is in the higher grades of high school or college. If some one at home can coach him, that's all to the good.

Somewhat or other we have absorbed the idea that to be coached or have private help is something so be done sub rosa—at least nothing to brag about.

Too dumb to get through on his own—or her own—is our way of dubbing the unfortunate. All of which shows how dumb we are ourselves for thinking so.

Actually, a custom is taking root in America that has been used by the oldest universities for centuries—the tutor system. Along with lectures the scholar has his private instructor; or a tutor coaches a small group.

LEARNING IS CHIEF PURPOSE
There is no disgrace or demerit attached to it. On the contrary, the main idea is to learn at all costs. As so much of higher learning is interpretive and needs expounding and discussion out of the classroom, it seems sensible to get all there is to it, have knotty problems explained and the confusing twists of language unfolded.

There never has been any particular virtue in studying alone. Naturally, the student must make individual effort, but the "help" system is merely a matter of co-operation and giving as good as you get.

I know a young man who took an engineering course in an eastern institute. It was a hard course. He wasn't cut out for it and had pleaded with his parents to be permitted to go in for science.

His father was cold to the idea. Engineering it had to be.

The university had begun to encourage group study, either with or without a leader. It seems that one part of this work was almost impossible to get for most of the students at least, individually. But this boy's father was horrified at the idea. No, sir! His son was not to collaborate with anyone or anyone with him, to have a tutor or anything else. Why it was as good as cheating, he declared.

So Bill failed in his junior year after being conditioned as a sophomore, and now he is selling hardware.

EMPEROR REVIEWS HIS FIGHTING STRENGTH

While the Italian dispute is being arbitrated, Emperor Haile Selassie of Abyssinia supervises preparation of his troops for any eventuality. Above, standing under the umbrella, he is shown reviewing the modern section of his army at Addis Ababa.

And there is no better way of deciding vacation needs than by careful study of the advertisements in this newspaper. They are filled with good suggestions, with real opportunities. These advertisements are more than to-day's buying news; they are forecasts of to-morrow's necessities. Read and buy now—and you'll have a happier time next month!

Make a Want to Hit with Boys? Suggest Ways To Be Popular

A GROUP of young women ask me what it takes for a girl to be popular with boys. That question is a hard nut to crack, since women are purely a matter of taste with men and the thing that appeals to one man in a girl will have another cold. There is no set standard of feminine attractions. Some men prefer girls who are Amazons, others are allured by pocket-Venuses. Some fall for string-bean figures, others get dithered over Mae West curves. Some can see none but the bold sunflower girl, others pick out the modest violet to wear on their breasts. So it goes, and so the wedding bells continue to ring merrily on.

But while a girl would have to be a chameleon to be able to change her color to meet every man's fancy, there are certain standardized attractions that every femme must have in order to make a hit with men, and have dates galore and plenty of cut-ins at dances.

To be popular, then, a girl must have, to begin with, a certain amount of good looks. She does not need to be Miss America. Indeed, prettiness him feel that the girl who possesses a superlative amount of pulchritude is not in his class. He cannot ask a goddess to go to the motion pictures with him, or to partake of a sandwich in a cafeteria after the show. She would have to be transported about in a $10,000 car and fed on nectar and ambrosia. All of which brings no theatre tickets and chocolate creams to the living picture.

Nevertheless, a girl must be easy on the eyes if a boy is to enjoy looking at her. Hence while the homely maiden may, and generally does, find one man with guile enough to prefer a humble soul to a good complexion, she can never hope to be generally popular.

It takes a knowledge of how to dress and wear her clothes to make a girl popular, but she mustn't overdo it. Men want the women they go out with to look smart and well groomed and up-to-date, but they don't want to drag around girls who look like perambulating clothes horses, or as if they had everything in the family except the kitchen stove on their backs. Many a girl in dressing to please the boys scares them off. They figure that a chap in a ready-made suit looks like thirty cents when he steps out with the queen of shebs.

It takes intelligence to make a girl popular. Men dodge the girls who are always flinging their college degrees in their faces and asking them if they have read the latest high-browed book. And they are not mad about girls who are always bragging about their golf scores and athletic prowess, but neither do they mob the dumb dorks and the baby-talk ladies. They like girls who have good, hard horse sense, who know the things they do and who can carry on a peppy conversation.

In this country, at least, boys expect girls to entertain and amuse them, and you will never find the crowd hanging around the girl who is dull and stupid and tongue-tied.

It takes adaptability to make a girl popular. She must be able to fit herself in anywhere. A girl may be as beautiful as a Follies headliner. She may be as brilliant as a college professor and possess as many virtues as a saint. But if she has funny little ways and is full of prejudices and lives on a diet and has phobias about doing what other people do, she will be left out of everything for the very simple reason that she is a sportsman and a wet blanket.

But the girl who can play a good game of bridge or tennis or golf, who can dance and swim, who can eat anything from terrapin to hot dogs, who can entertain the children or grandpa, who can take a hand in any sort of game or work is the one whose name heads the lists of hostesses and whom the boys swarm around because she is always the life of the party.

It takes good nature to make a girl popular. Men like girls who are not too hard to please and who do not keep them on their tiptoes trying to keep them pleased. They like jolly girls whose laughs are hung on a hair-trigger and who make things gay and pleasant wherever they go. They like amiable girls who take things as they come and make the best of every situation.

Men hate female cats who rip each other up the back. They fear the wisecracker and they flee the humorist who is always holding up people as figures of fun. There is no other weapon with which a woman can cut her throat so neatly as with her tongue.

Most of all, it takes tact for a girl to be popular. She must have skill in handling men. She must know how to sidestep their peculiarities; when to insinuate flattery and when to plaster it on with a trowel; when to blow hot and when to blow cold, and when she has acquired this art she will have the boy friends standing up in rows.

These are some of the qualities that a girl needs to make her popular. Some acquire them, and some are born with all it takes. DOROTHY DIX. Copyright by Public Ledger Inc.

Uncle Wiggily and the Last Day

(By HOWARD E. GARIS)

When Uncle Wiggily hopped down to breakfast in his hollow stump one morning, he found all his bunny rabbit friends and boys were dancing and singing. The song they sang was:

"Hurrah! Hurrah! This is the last day of the last day!"

"What last day is it?" asked Uncle Wiggily when he caught hold of Baby Bunty as he was slipping around the table.

"It's the last day of school!" said the little orphan rabbit. "We don't have to go after to-day, for more than two months. Hurrah! Hurrah! This is the last day!"

"Oh, no it is time for vacation, is it?" asked Mr. Longears. "I didn't remember that."

"Yes," said Jungles. "No more school for a long time. And if you'd like to come for the last day to our Hollow Tree School, Daddy, the Lady Mouse Teacher said you might."

"That is very kind of her," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I think I shall visit the school on this last day and hear you children recite your lessons."

NO LESSONS

"Oh, there aren't going to be any lessons," laughed Baby Bunty. "That's one of the nice things about last day. We just go to school and don't have any lessons."

"What do you do?" asked Uncle Wiggily for it was a long time ago that he was a rabbit boy in school.

"Oh, we sing and play around and some of us recite pieces," said Bunty. "and we laugh and then the last day is over and we go home."

It happened just as Baby Bunty said. Uncle Wiggily hopped to school soon after the animal children, including his own bunny boys and girls, had left to arrive before 9 o'clock. Though it was the last day, none of the children wanted to be late.

"We are glad to have Uncle Wiggily with us," said Miss Mouse as she stood at her desk in front of the class. "And I think we should sing a song especially for him. What would you like to sing?"

"Let's sing the song about the carrot pie," said Baby Bunty.

So they sang about how once a cunning carrot pie was made of chocolate cake and when it went out waiting it fell into a lake.

Baby Bunty recited some verses about a flower and Jackie and Pettie how wow, the puppets did a dance together. Then Miss Mouse said:

FUT THINGS AWAY

"Now as the last day of school for a long time, you children may put away the blackboard chalk and the cranks, the books, paper, pencils, the kindergarten pictures and other things we use in our school work. Put them in the closet. We shall not need them again until September."

Baby Bunty was putting away the kindergarten pictures in the closet where they belonged when all of a sudden the little orphan rabbit screamed, slammed the door shut and ran to Mr. Longears.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! There's a big, black, funny animal in the closet. We're hiding in the corner! Look the door so he can't get out and bite us! Oh, such a black funny animal!"

Uncle Wiggily was brave. He went over to the closet, opened the door and looked in. With Miss Mouse standing by, he called the Police Dog. But there was no beast for the Police Dog. Uncle Wiggily, all of a sudden, began to

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, JUNE 29, 1935

Aspects rule strongly to-day, according to astrology. The month should be a time when constructive thinking will expedite all business matters.

The stars encourage building and improvements affording better accommodations for the unemployed. Plans will be gradually eliminated from cities which are to become harmonious and beautiful. Architects should build at this time when they will aid in establishing new ideals in building and novel improvements in homes.

This is an auspicious way for landscape architects who will achieve their greatest work will be to supply gardens for the poorest masses about towns and cities.

Although the coming weeks will bring such that is discouraging the seers forecast that there will be a slow transition to better times that will endure.

While immense fortunes are to be more and more difficult to attain and while the average citizen will have less chance of acquiring wealth, the general good will be assured as the years pass, according to astrology.

Seers who look ahead fifty years predict for the United States a supremacy among the nations of the world, but it will be maintained only through various following severe tests of national strength.

Astrologers emphasize the need of industrial effort that builds the physical and the mental powers. They warn that dissipation must be avoided and vice eradicated if the white race is to survive and dominate more than a century hence.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of gain through persistent work and self-denial. Writers and newspaper men should profit greatly.

Children born on this day probably will be alert in mind, quick in action and really talented. Many subjects of the stars are egotistical and aggressive, but they may have high purposes.

William E. Birch, United States senator, was born on this day, 1851. Others who were born on this day are: a highway inspector, Maurice Leon, lawyer and writer, 1860, and Charles Baldwin Cheney, journalist, 1871. Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

B.C. Fisheries Show Increase

Total Value of Product Marketed Last Year Given as $15,334,335

The British Columbia catch of fish in 1934 amounted to 3,666,154 cwt., and the total value of this product as marketed, whether sold for consumption fresh, canned and cured is estimated at $15,334,335, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The value shows an increase over 1933 of $3,332,894, or 22 per cent, and an increase over 1932 of $4,425,219, or 29 per cent. To the total value in 1934 the salmon fishery contributed $12,351,041, or 81 per cent, the principal item being canned salmon—1,522,224 cases, valued at $10,426,160. The salmon pack shows an increase over 1933 of 317,854 cases, and the value an increase of $2,998,037. British Columbia canned salmon is sent to all parts of the world, the total export in 1934 amounting to 391,645 cases, representing $15,928 cases of forty-eight pounds each.

Halibut follows salmon in order of value, with a catch of 97,881 cwt., and a marketed value of $833,829. The figures for halibut are not comparable with those of previous years, for the reason that the quantity taken by United States fishing vessels was previously included with the catch and the quantity marketed fresh for British Columbia.

The landings by United States vessels in 1934 totaled 84,921 cwt. In 1933 the landings of the United States vessels amounted to 97,881 cwt., and this quantity is included in the catch of 170,813 cwt. shown in the statistics for that year.

Herring is third among the chief commercial fishes, with a total value of $628,982, a decrease from 1933 of $109,540. Herring is marketed chiefly as dry-salted, and there is also a large production of meal.

The pilchard fishery shows recovery, increasing from a catch of 121,013 cwt. in 1933 to 860,108 cwt. in 1934, and the marketed value from $77,466 to $649,910. The chief products are oil and meal, and there was also in 1934 a considerable production of canned pilchard. Whales taken, valued at $208,000, compared with 208 in the preceding year, and the value of production rose from $110,080 to $183,738. Whale oil produced during the year amounted to 813,724 gallons, and the exports to 653,937 gallons.

Fliers Still Roaring Aloft

Fred and Al Keys, Shatters of Endurance Record,
Stay in Air

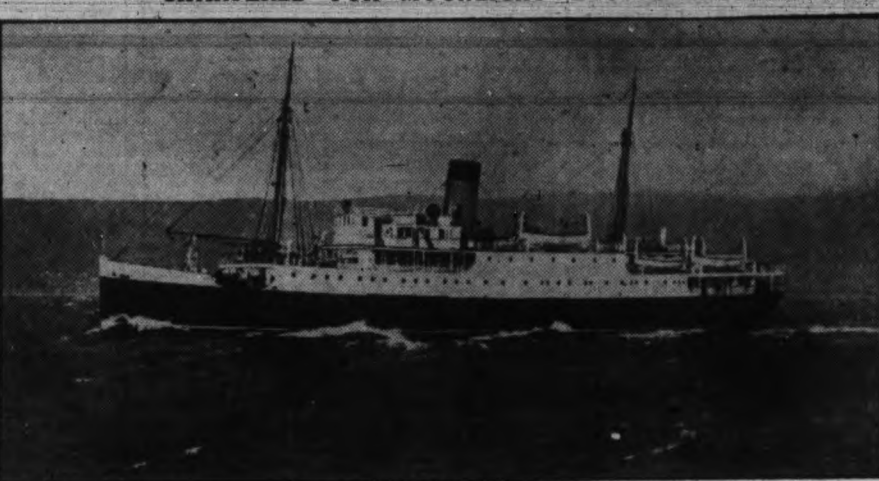

Associated Press
Meridian, Miss., June 28.—The record-breaking plane of Fred and Al Keys roared in circles over Meridian today, giving no indication of descending with its new aerial endurance mark.

"We are going to keep her in the air just as long as she keeps perking," said Fred.

The brothers shattered the old endurance record of 553 hours forty-one minutes and thirty seconds, set by John and Kenneth Hunter at Chicago, in 1930, at 5:31:30 p.m. C.S.T., yesterday.

The fliers, tired, weary and aching after twenty-four days aloft in the close quarters of their plane, the Ole Miss, were cheered with the assurance of a group of newspaper publishers that they will be given $100 for each day they remain in the air past the former record time.

They all sailed by the Ss. Princess Kathleen this afternoon for Vancouver, where they will transfer to the northbound Ss. Prince Robert.

All the cabin accommodations of the Prince Robert have been booked for the cruise.

MUSIC, MOVIES, WHILE IN AIR

Reservations Made For Transpacific Plane Service in October

Alameda, June 28.—Those who tour the skies from California to China in the air liners scheduled to fly to the north starting next October, will have music, movies, reading and games to while away the hours. General Traffic Manager V. E. Chenes of Pan-American Airways said here.

The company's office added that seventy-five reservations for the long air voyage already were on file.

The exact schedule Chenes said, depends entirely upon conditions next fall, particularly upon steamship connections for passengers going only part way by air or changing at Honolulu for Australia or the South Sea.

"We plan an overnight stop at Wake Island," Chenes said. "But I've been in your business long enough to know we can make schedules up to the last minute and then change them. So there's really no way of telling at what hour the planes will leave Alameda—the California terminal—or even on what day."

He agreed that if the planes were to reach Wake for an overnight stop they would leave Alameda shortly after noon, due to the nineteen-hour difference in time.
